THOSE responsible for the publication of this, the ninth volume of The Messenger, labored in the hope that they might present to the students of the high school and their friends, a true panorama of Durham High life. In its pages they have attempted to picture the student as he is seen throughout the year by his fellows, not only in the lecture-room and laboratory, but also in the many extra curricular activities, both literary and physical. They have also endeavored to show the progress and growth in efficiency which this high school has made in the last year, of which the students are justly proud.*

They hope, dear reader, that this annual will not only live up to expectations as a picture of the life in Durham High; but that it will also increase the pride and interest of the community at large in the finest high school in the Old North State.

LILLIAN BURTON ALLEN

*"A witty woman is a treasure;
A witty beauty is a power."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 1, 4; Glee Club 1; James Southgate Literary Society 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer; Chaplain 4; Messenger Staff 4; Statistician; Stunt Cast 4.

Lillian, in her wee small voice, pipes up with such witty things that we can only laugh and wonder how she thinks of them. She tells us that she works, but we wonder how anybody as pretty as she is, could have time for it. We have heard that New Jersey has an uncanny fascination for Lillian, and when we asked her about it, she only replied, that she "Newsom" boy there.

HUGH QUINCY ALEXANDER

"ALEX"

"By the work one knows the workman."

Monogram Club 4; Blackwell Literary Society 4; Dramatic Club 4; Basketball 4; Athletic Association 4; Stunt Cast 4; Home Room 6A3; Chaplain 4.

Hugh came to us from West Durham at the beginning of this year. He came in a whirlwind and made good in a "White Whirlwind." He has been with us long enough to be outstanding in his literary society and on our basketball team. Hugh says he is quiet, but he made himself one of the big noises by "Spreading the News." Possibly it was his first offense and neighbors excused him from censure. Earnest and interested, Alexander has more worlds to conquer.

RUTH ADAMS

*"A smile for all, a greeting glad
A friendly, jolly way she had."*

Girls' Club 4.

Ruth says little, but that isn't a sign that she doesn't work. For proof one only has to watch her in the library as she busily proves all of Mr. Euclid's theorems during time when most of us are reading "Andy Gump," "Etta Kett," or the sports page of the newspapers. Don't think that she doesn't enjoy other things too—just ask her how well she likes to talk.

JAMES LEXIE ADAMS

"JIMMIE"

"Though I am always in haste, I am never in a hurry."
Co-operative Class 3, 4; Commercial Club 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Stunt Cast 4; Co-op Minstrel 4; Hi-Y 2, 3; Glee Club 2, 3.

Jimmie Adams is a perfect example of the cheerful man—hence loathed melancholy and all the other gods of grief and sadness must find some apter subject to rob of happiness. We know of but one thing that disturbs him—the smile and gaze of a number of the fairer sex. Beneath this light cheerful exterior we find an earnestness and sincerity which makes him a good friend.

LENNA MAE BROOKS

"YORKIE"

"There's rosemary, that's for remembrance—and there are pansies, that's for thoughts."

Commercial Club 3, 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Hi-Rocket 4; Girls' Basketball, Home Room Manager 3, 4; Coroso Players 4; Home Room, 6A4, Marshall, May Queen's Court 2.

Lenna Mae—Be what? She may be anything she wishes, from Hoover's secretary on down; but we know what she is already—a pretty, gentle, young lady, although she was a high spirited grandmother in the Commercial Club play. She is studying bookkeeping—but surely not for a business life? You know, bookkeeping is an asset in making a house a home.

ROBERT CLARK ATWOOD

"BOB"

*"The wisest man could ask no more of Fate
Than to be simple, modest, manly, true."*

Baseball 3, 4; Thomas A. Edison Science Club 3, 4; Secretary and Treasurer 4; Movie Operator 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Messenger Staff, Business Staff 4; Commercial Club 4; Boys' Glee Club 4.

Bobbie has very little trouble in making friends—all he has to do is grin, and people say, "Welcome into our hearts, Bobbie." He very seldom says anything, but when he does speak there is enough said and done. Some of us suspect that Bobbie likes the girls although we haven't very much direct evidence of this fact. We feel sure that this tall fellow, who always looks as if he were laughing up his sleeve, has a bright future ahead of him.

FRANCIS ELIZABETH COUNCIL

"HALI"

*"Her blue eyes sought the west afar,
For lovers love the western star."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athena Literary Society 4; Stunt Cast 4; Girls' Reserves 2; Queen's Court 2, 3.

Francis is a lovely girl with a mass of blonde hair and eyes of deepest blue. Francis, it seems, is always associated with old rose and lavender. Perhaps she should have lived in Civil War days—anyway, she certainly would have added to the picture of the demure miss in the old-fashioned hoop skirts standing under an apple tree, loaded with blossoms, waiting for—well, who knows?

CHARLOTTE CORBIN

"CHARLIE"

"Diligence is the mother of good fortune."

Girls' Club 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 4; Home Room, Chairman of Program Committee 4.

Here's a wise girl for you! She left Chapel Hill and came to Durham High. Charlotte has a very optimistic disposition in spite of the fact that she is taking two English courses under—O well, is it best to tell names and tales, too? Charlotte is also a regular Math shark! After leaving high school she intends to specialize in that subject. From all known indications Einstein will have to work to keep his crown from being stolen by Charlotte.

SIDNEY LINGLE BOWDEN

"SID"

"A man may be in good spirits and good temper when he's well groomed. There's much credit in that."

Athletic Association 4; French Club 4; Hi-Y Club 3, 4; Messenger Staff, Assistant Business Manager 4; Home Room Vice-president 4; Senior Play 4.

Sidney with his boyish manner and thoughtful mind is a "regular fellow." His rosy cheeks and fair complexion are the envy of the weaker sex. He certainly would make Billie Dove "take a back seat" if he endorsed such ads as Lux Toilet Soap and Elizabeth Arden rouge. How will Miss Herr get along without our Sidney to answer office calls with full and well garnished reports? How we are going to miss his yards and yards of smiles and the good fellowship of "Bobbie"!

HELEN KENDRICK CARD

"LITTLE BIT"

"The mildest manners, and the gentlest heart."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Marshall 2; Chaplain 3; Critic 4; President 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; President 4; Play Cast 4; Stunt Cast 4; Poster Club 4; Messenger Staff 4; Home Room Secretary 4.

No, guess agan! Why, of course, Helen is our second Ethel Barrymore with equal charm, talent, and personality which the famous stage star possesses. She will never find herself unprepared in the rain because she truly lets a smile be her umbrella which she carries with her always. As president of the Dramatic Club, she has proved her ability to lead.

LILLIAN ELIZABETH COOKE

"LIL"

"Who envies none that chance both raise."

Commercial Club 4; Girls' Club 3, 4.

Lillian hasn't been with us so very long, but it has been long enough so that it wouldn't seem natural around here without her. Lillian's quiet charm is her greatest asset, and by her manner one would think that she is as "meek as a lamb," but when you know her, she is a "jolly-good-timer" and knows how to take a joke! Her answers in class are surprising and she can certainly give you a good "come-back." So long, Lillian, we are wishing you the best o' luck.

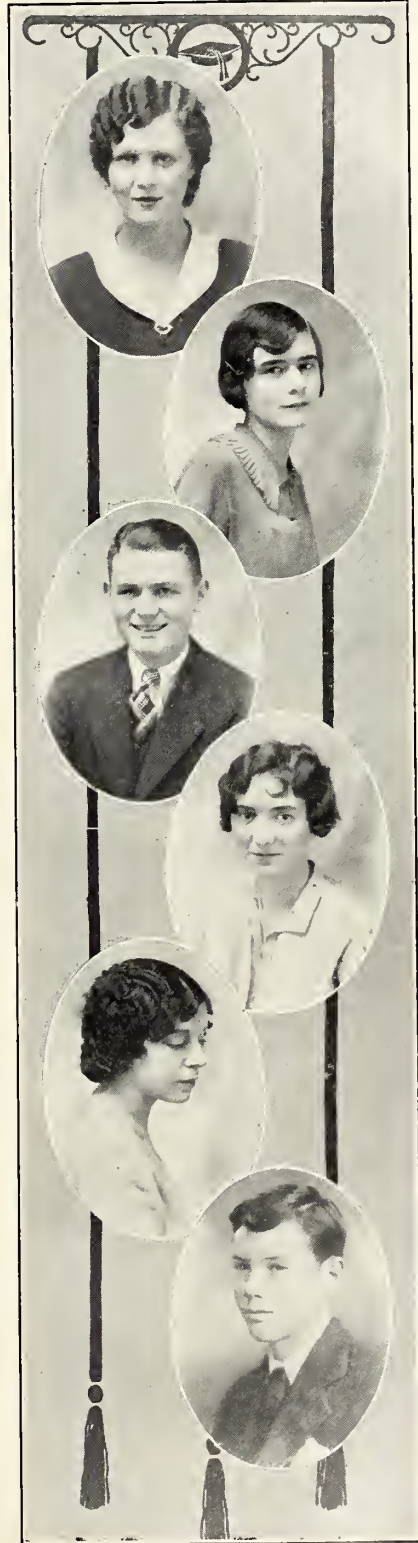

JOHN CHESTER BERRY

"BUCK"

"None but himself can be his parallel."

Messenger Staff 4; Advertising Staff 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 3, 4; Golf Team 3, 4; Commercial Club 3; Hi-Y 3; Athletic Association 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer, President 4; Marshal 4.

"Plus four's," an orange sweater, and a nonchalant air; that's "Buck." "Buck" has an eye for business, in fact, none ever escapes it. He is the kind of person who can take solid geometry just for the pleasure it affords him. Maybe that is the difference between him and the rest of the world. Chester has acquired the art of hard study for he wants to know what the world has to offer to a business man in the making.

MARGARET HOLLOWAY CHRISTMAS
"PEGGY"

*"Be good, sweet maid, and let who will be clever;
Do noble things, not dream them, all day long;
And so make life, death, and that vast forever
One grand sweet song."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; President Girls' Unit 4; Messenger Staff 4; Typist.

This little Christmas has plenty of Santa Clauses because everyone likes her. Her piquant wit makes her a sought after young lady. The unusual thing about her is that she is just as popular among girls as among boys. When we say farewell to her, we wish to the world a very Merry Christmas.

THOMAS E. BEARD
"TOM"

*"Here the heart
May give a useful lesson to the head
And learning wiser grow without his books."*

Co-op Class Chaplain 4; Football 1; Track 1; Hi-Y 3; Co-op Plays 3, 4; Stunt Night 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Co-op Minstrel 4.

Thomas is one of our old "regular" co-ops. He is very industrious and business-like, both inside and outside of school. Though he finds difficulty in "parler-ing le francais," he doesn't mind school at all—in fact he rather enjoys it. He believes that judges should all be merciful, but acting as one he bribed the jury to render a verdict of "not guilty." Why? Because he wanted to help eat the turkey that Rastus stole.

HAZEL COCKMAN

*"Hazel was ready ere I called her name
And though I called another, Hazel came."*

Girls' Club 3, 4; French Club 4; Stunt Cast 4.

Of course, it seems impertinent to say so, but Hazel's only weakness seems to be talking in the library when Mrs. Stackhouse turns her back—what of, we know not. But, suffice it to say that Hazel is law-abiding despite her love of prohibited conversation, and, after all, isn't that just like women?

CLAIBORNE BYRD

"Wise to resolve and patient to perform."

Co-op Class 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Co-op Minstrel 4.

Once more he attains the rank of Senior, this time to stay until the very end, we hope, for we don't know what we would do without his cheery smile. Claiborne has quite the reputation of revelling in harmless argumentation—right or wrong, regardless. By the way, this is the "black face" whose fingers itched for a nice, plump, turkey. Of course, we are sure that he's innocent of ever letting his desires run away with him.

HELEN FONTELLE COZART
"FONTE"

"The wicked are conquered by persistent kindness."

Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Blue Triangle 2, 3; Girls' Basketball Team 2, 3, 4; Girls' Glee Club 2, 3; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Secretary 4.

Thoughts of Fontelle mean to us thoughts of steady blue eyes and an unbreakable poise. She is calmly persistent in doing what she is asked to do; and though never rude, she is sweetly determined to do what seems right. Some times she's quiet, but she has lots of gay moods, "Tew."

WINFORD FRANKLIN BOBBITT
"BOBBIE"

"The style is the man himself."

Athletic Association 4; Home Room 6A1; Program Committee 4; Glee Club 4; Orchestra 4.

Here is one of our coming musicians! He certainly does "shake a wicked fiddle" in the orchestra of Durham High. We would not advise any one to go into the barber trade if Winford were to be the chief customer. Why? Simply because all his hair will soon be gone if he studies any harder over English. Besides warbling with the Glee Club, he can make up programs for session room which, to say the least, are entertaining.

INA LEE COLLINS
"SLIM"

*"Quiet as a nun
But ready for fun."*

Dramatic Club 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; French Club 4; Stunt Cast 4.

Apparently absorbed in her own world, Ina Lee never gets excited over anything. Though indifferent to most things, the good things of life always come to her. We are inclined to think that the reason for this is her unusual combination of sympathetic understanding and naive charm.

MALISSA OZELLE CANNADAY
"MOC"

*"Whate'er she did was done with so much ease,
"I dare do all that does become a man."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Glee Club 1, 2; Commercial Club 3; Athletic Association 4.

One of Ozelle's timid whispers is worth a million boisterous shouts. She manages to pack a load of meaning in her few-and-far-between sentences. Even though we hear she doesn't especially love to study, she certainly gets the best out of it. And although she seems to be quite timid—you never can tell about these quiet folks! We prophesy when Prince Charming asks, the answer will be clearly understood.

AUBREY CHEEK

"I dare do all that does become a man."

Football 3; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-president of Co-op Class 4; Coroso Players 4; Co-op Minstrel 4.

Here we have Aubrey, another one of our most amiable boys who is to be field secretary for the Co-ops in introducing Shakespeare to the modern world. Not satisfied with being a fighting center for the Crimson Tide, he also helped the Coroso Players win laurels. Aubrey has been an asset to the school just because he gave himself to the job.

FLORENCE WATSON CRUTCHFIELD
"PAT"

"The only reward of virtue is virtue; the only way to have a friend is to be one."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4; Hi-Rocket 1; Blue Triangle 1, 2; Dramatic Club 3; Glee Club 1.

Florence is one of that romantic type still living in this age of restraint who is willing to try anything once. Thankful we are, that at least one in our midst has that "never die" spirit (even in French). Florence with her perseverance may reach the top o' the ladder by a pathway yet untried, the cottage neat where larks sing and the twisted woodbine twines, with an M.R.S. degree.

ALICE CUTHRELL

"True worth is in being, not seeming."

Girls' Club 2, 3, 4; James H. Southgate Literary Society 2, 3, 4.

Alice is very quiet, seldom expressing her own opinion because she is a good listener. Shy and demure in class, she is as noisy outside as Leonard Lewis broadcasting office announcements. She is industrious, ambitious, and loyal; and she has good promise for a bright future. Alice says she wants to go to college and we hope she will make a fine record, one as thrilling as the other Alice in Wonderland.

STOUGH B. GANTT
"STEW"

*"Ready to help at any time
A typical lad, strong and fine."*

Julian S. Carr Literary Society 2; Stunt Cast 4; Commercial Club 2, 4; Hi-Y 4; Athletic Association 2; Home Room Officer 2.

If you ever need the services of a truly competent and energetic person—one who can make two high school years in one and still keep an assembled complexion—just call Stough. But don't get the impression that he always has an eye for business; that is, as concerns the generally accepted meaning of the word. Surely you've heard the adage that the best way to approach a person on an important matter is to give him something to eat. Well, with the experience Stough's had in the cafeteria, aren't you wondering if he will use that method to cover his weakness when his supreme moment arrives?

LUCILE BYRD DRAUGHON

"LUKE"

Messenger Staff 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; Chaplain 3; Vice-President 4; Dramatic Club 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Critic 4.

Lucile is very studious and employs time which most of us idle away. She has been able to mingle with many students and take part in much outside work, and at the same time make grades which put shame on most of us. As a friend, Lucile is dependable and trustworthy; as a student capable and painstaking. She is the type of school citizen that makes the school community radiate strength.

JOHN LELAND GARRISON

"CHIEF"

*"Red hair has 'It'
And it has red hair."*

Athletic Association 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4.

Red-haired, 'n everything! Leland may not be a ladies' man, but, my! how he can harmonize! Things aren't what they seem, always, and really, you'd be surprised at the naughty things he does. His favorite weakness is writing poems for Shakespeare notebooks, but he will get over that. As a poet, Leland has been a grand "wash-woman," but why judge the future by the past? Every one outgrows his childish ways, sometimes, but, mercy, suppose he shouldn't?

MAE BELL DRAUGHON

"BELL"

*"If eyes were made for seeing
Then beauty is its only excuse for being."*

O. Henry Literary Society 3, 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Queen's Court 2.

A distinctive feminine type is Mae Bell. Her calm, easy-going ways and rare endowment of beauty make for her a striking personality. We marvel at the ease with which she has made such good grades. Her aloofness is indicative of life in a world of beauty, in the kingdom of the mind, where she hides from day's garish eye. She has the elusive charm that belongs to the belle of the 60's.

HUGO GERMINO

"HUG-O"

*"His very foot has music in it
As he comes up the stairs."*

Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Commercial Club 4; Stunt Cast 4; Band 3, 4; Assistant Leader 3, 4; Orchestra 3, 4; Assistant Leader 4; Wrestling 4; Golf 4.

Hugo like the minstrels of old, can sing a song, dance a jig, or blow a bugle and hold an audience spell-bound while doing it. His ever-ready excuses never fail to pull him out of the narrow places in which he frequently finds himself. Hugo always looks on the bright side and with his optimistic nature and his groaning saxophone he has won his way into many hearts in D. H. S.

LOIS TULLOCKE EMORY

"LO-LO"

Girls' Club 3, 4.

Lois, one of our Seniors who joined us in September, has learned to keep her own counsel. Even though she doesn't voice her wants, she gets her purpose accomplished just the same. She knows she likes D. H. S. for after an absence of a few weeks she returned to see that Christine Umstead didn't grow thinner through doing nothing, and that Jessie Murray didn't die from overwork.

NATHANIEL ALEXANDER GREGORY

"NAT"

*"Born for success he seemed
With grace to win, with heart to hold
With shining gifts that took all eyes."*

Messenger 2, 3, 4; Editor-in-chief 4; Student Body Vice-president 4; Blackwell Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; President 4; Dramatic Club 4; Hi-Y 1, 2, 3, 4; French Club 4; Senior Play 4; Athletic Association 2, 3, 4.

Although Nat was christened Nathaniel Alexander Gregory, he has overcome this early handicap and become an extremely likeable chap. He is our most diplomatic member, and by his tact and power of persuasion, has succeeded in getting almost any one to see things from his point of view. He is very dependable and will always do his best to help make anything a success. Of course, it is hardly necessary to mention that Nat is the "perfect lover" on the stage, and has proved very fatal to the fairer sex because of this accomplishment.

CATHERINE LOUISE FARTHING

"KAT"

*"Ye belles and ye flirts, and ye gay little things,
Who trip in the frolicsome round."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society, 4; Messenger Staff, Girls' Athletic Editor 4; Commercial Club, Cabinet Member 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4.

What would cookies be without spice and ginger? Well then, how would D. H. S. function minus Kat and all her pep? She is every inch footloose (for the present at least) in spite of her numerous love affairs. We hear rumors of another. Who knows? Wonder what Fate holds in store for Kat and her care-free ways?

ANNIE LOIS FOSTER

"TINY"

"A brown-eyed Susan, shy as a violet."

Girls' Club 3, 4; James H. Southgate Literary Society 3, 4; Secretary 3; President 4; Society Stunt Cast 4; Home Room 6A4, First Term, Vice-president; Second Term, Chaplain and Treasurer.

Another proof of the adage that precious things come in small packages, is Lois Foster. Timid? She is just the opposite when the ice is broken. She flutters about here and there leaving a bright smile and a list of friends to testify to her kindly disposition.

FELTON HAYES

"The great end of life is not knowledge, but action."

Football 3; Basketball 3, 4; Baseball 3, 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Glee Club 3; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 3, 4; Vice-president 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 4, Sports Editor; Monogram Club 3, 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Junior Class 3; Treasurer: Stunt Cast 3, 4.

Presenting Handsome Hayes, the Beau Brummel off D. H. S.! But far from being an idle "beau," Felton vigorously exerts himself in basketball, baseball, and fancy dancing. Though he seems merely to enjoy having a good time, he can work as hard as any one, but who would believe it?

JOSEPHINE YOUNG FULLER

"JOE"

*"Her simplicity was as a lily
Her innocence as a daisy."*

Girls' Club 3, 4; Glee Club 4; Choir School 4.

Josephine, the little girl with long curls and blue eyes, is a quiet member of the high school; that is, when she is not singing. Interested in athletics and music, she is a tiny but important cog in the great machine of high school accomplishment. Unassuming, naive, quaint, little Joe will not be found wanting when Life calls.

MARJORIE GLASSON

"Those true eyes

*Too pure and too honest in aught to disguise
The sweet soul shining through them."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 3; Treasurer 4; Mandolin Club 3; Commercial Club 3, 4; Hi-Rocket 1, 2, 3, 4; Editor-in-chief 4; French Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Blue Triangle 4; Coroso Players 1; Senior Play 4; Secretary-Treasurer of Class 2; Stunt Cast 3, 4.

Marjorie is the one who starts the Hi-Rocket on its flight over the school every two weeks, and who keeps the Girls' Club finances straight. She is one of the chosen basketball players who made the varsity. She never fails to win a place on the coveted honor roll in studies. And still—she's not conceited! Her eyes twinkle just as merrily as if she were a carefree freshman. We all count her friendship ours, but she, herself, seems partial to stage managers.

JAMES HOWELL

"JIMMIE"

*"Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; physical attractions plus an undescrivable "Ego" equal Mr. Commercial Club 1, 2, 3; Track 3; Stunt Cast 4.

A basketball hero with a wave in his hair! Can you imagine anything more interesting to the fairer sex? These physical attraction plus an indescribable "Ego" equal Mr. James Howell, if you please. Reticent? Yes, but a good sport among all, as all his friends will gladly testify. If he is ever injured, Jimmie wishes everyone to know that it is his request that he be carried to Ward M.

EDNA GRIFFIN

"ED"

"A good heart is better than all the heads in the world."
Girls' Club 3, 4; Glee Club 4.

Edna has shown that teacher's decisive decisions have no effect whatsoever on her good humor. To show how happy and gay she was, she joined the Glee Club so she could tell the world about it. She's out to make good, and if we have anything to say about it—she's started out in the right way.

DAVID JAFFE

"I speak truth, not so much as I would, but as much as I dare, and I dare a little more as I grow older."

Blackwell Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Treasurer 4; President 4; Vice-President 4; Commercial Club 3, 4; Athletic Association 4; Messenger 4; Declamation 3, 4.

Tall and slender, with a distinguished bearing and a grave aloof manner, David Jaffe rather reminds one of a prince of the blood and he is a prince of a fellow. He is an excellent student, and shows promise as a public speaker. He is thoroughly dependable, never pretends to know what he does not, and never lets go until he has mastered a task.

MARGARET LEE HARRIS

"DINK"

"Neat, not gaudy!"

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; French Club 4; Dramatic Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Secretary 4; Stunt Cast 4; Home Room Critic 4.

This little miss is very fun-loving and jolly. Many times we have seen her trying to suppress a laugh during class, and when we later asked what the fun was, she would tell us that something had reminded her of a joke she had heard a long time ago. But, she's English, don't you know! If silence is golden—well, Margaret should be a millionaire because she says little but gives the impression of knowing much. If her greatest desire is to teach school, there is no need for us to wish her success because it will surely be hers.

VERNON JOHNSON

"AL JOLSON"

*"Go where glory waits thee!
But while fame elates thee!
Remember me!"*

Co-op Class 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Coroso Players 1, 2, 3; Co-op Stunt 3, 4; Class Reporter 3, 4; Chairman of Judicial Committee 4.

Here we have the Al Jolson of the Co-op Class. He has been singing "Mammy" and "Sonny Boy" ever since the Vitaphone was made famous by Warner Brothers. He even became so serious as to join the Glee Club—pity the club! Vernon is quite a dramatist, having made his debut with the Community Players. He's quite an actor, too, and miraculously grew a beard in five minutes which some men have been years in acquiring. Anyway, Vernon is one of our loyal co-ops who stands by his name and reputation in every school activity that needs his help.

MARY ALBERT HICKS

"Quiet as a mouse she makes her way Pleasant and friendly, and always gay."

Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Secretary 4.

Mary Albert does not thrust herself into the limelight of our student activities, but she quietly and efficiently helps to make things run smooth behind the scene. For proof, one need only look at her grades which are a mute testimony of work well done. Thorough and practical, she is the type of person who is included in every strong organization. Besides this, she is an ideal senior and delightful friend to those who are so fortunate as to know her.

GEORGE NEWTON WALTERS JONES

"SHADEE"

*"A ready machine, always wound up and going
He mastered everything that was well worth the knowing."*

Hi-Y 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary 3; Vice-President 4; Football Squad 2, 3, 4; Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Secretary 2; Athletic Association 1, 2, 4; Hi-Rocket 2, 3, 4; Assistant Circulation Manager 2; Advertising Manager 4; Messenger Staff 4.

Walters is another one of Durham High's diplomats. He is one of our most outstanding Hi-Y members, and he should be an overwhelming success as a boys' worker, following in the footsteps of the honorable Arnold Eugene Jenny. Though we wish to have him go on, we hate to see him leave, for how can we ever get the right six boys to fill his place?

RUTH CAMERON JOHNSON

"I live for those who love me."

Athletic Association 4; Girls' Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4.

Ruth has charm—in quantities! Really, it's not fair for one person to have so much. She climbed into someone's heart, and found—guess what? Yes, a diamond ring. Ruth has climbed into our hearts too, without even trying, and we hope she is satisfied with what she found there.

NORAH VIRGINIA KERSEY

"MONA"

"And grace that won all who saw, to wish her stay."

Girls' Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Glee Club 4; Commercial Club 4.

They say that red-headed people have fiery tempers but in this case it is not true for Norah, besides being very thoughtful of others, has an unusually sweet disposition. This little red-head can just dance like a nymph, cook like a chef, and never is found wanting in preparation for class. She came to Durham High from Virginia, and we are all glad that she did. With tremendous obstacles ahead she got busy and won.

CHARLES FRANKLIN KNOTT

"CHARLIE"

*"A boy's will is the wind's will,
And the thoughts of youth are long, long thoughts."*

Hi-Y 1, 2, 3, 4; Julian S. Carr Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Science Club 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 3, 4; Glee Club 4.

One of our ambitious young Carusos—and a "lady killer" made to order. Charlie is quite a Barrymore, an idol among the fairer sex. He is also one of our budding architects, and we know that he will some day plan a great theater in which he will give his voice to the world; and better yet, he will build a little home in the hills where he will test it out on a fair lady of his dreams.

MARGARET HENRY KING

"Charm strikes the sight; but merit wins the soul."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Chairman of Social Committee 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4; Vice-president 3; French Club, Treasurer 4; Dramatic Club 4; Messenger Staff 4; Assistant Literary Editor 4.

Margaret Henry was just born smart, but she never took chances. She added hard and conscientious study to her native aptitude and results have been gratifying. She can play a piano so that Orpheus "heaves his head" to listen. However, doing her work well is not by any means her only interest. Although she hardly ever fails to make "A's" on her her studies, she also likes "B's." After leaving D. H. S. she is planning to pursue a musical career which we hope will lead to various kinds of notes—banks, musical—and otherwise.

MADELINE VIRGINIA MARSHALL

"BUBBS"

"In thy smile is youth and joy."

Messenger Staff 4; Typist; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Chairman of Program Committee 4; Commercial Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Executive Council 3; Home Room Officer 4; Treasurer 4; Chairman of Program Committee 4.

Madeline's quiet, unassuming manner is indeed an inspiration to all of us. If we could only borrow a little of her dignity and wit for a little while, how we could use it! We know her as a good all-round, sport girl. She is very enthusiastic and is a hearty supporter in all of the school's activities. It has been rumored that Madeline has been stricken with "heart trouble"; she deserves happiness!

JACOB LEVIN

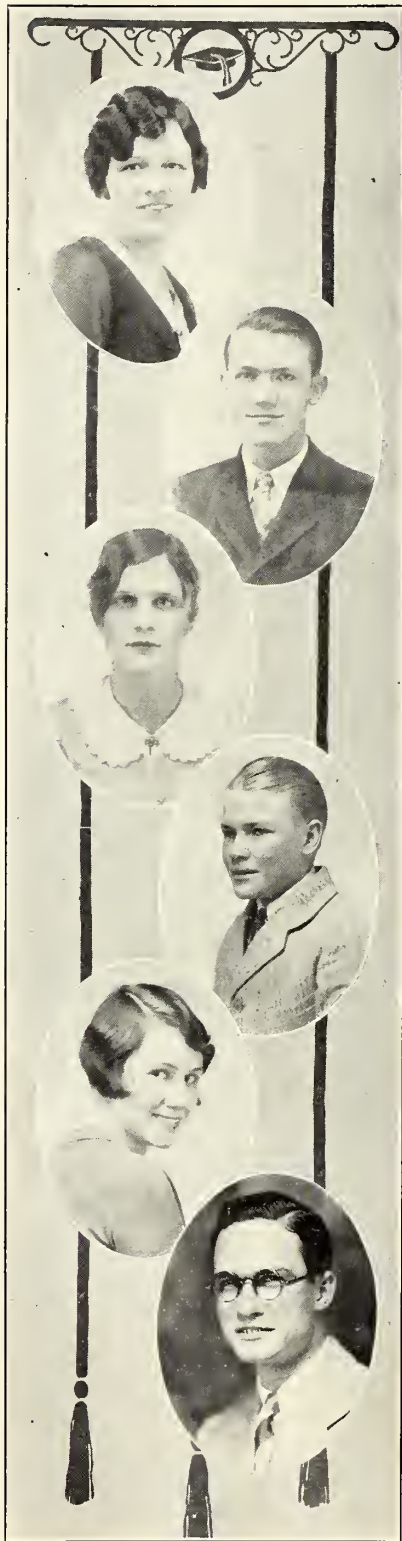

"JAKE"

"Exhausting thought, and growing wisdom, with each studious year."

Hi-Rocket 3, 4; Commercial Club 4; Band 1, 2; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Home Room Officer, Treasurer 3.

Studious, wise, solemn, well-informed—that's "Jake." Jake is often silent merely because he is too modest to declare his opinion. He has never shown any insatiable craving for the limelight, but he has more than upheld the scholastic standing of his class, as his monopoly on "A's" will testify. This knowledge seeking lad is a familiar figure at the Public Library, where he ponders over huge volumes. Some day all this long pent up knowledge will be revealed to the world, and then—well, Jake will probably be the second Plato.

ANNE ELIZABETH MARKHAM

"ANNE LIB"

"The reward of a thing well done is to do it."

Girls' Club 1, 3, 4; Lila Markham Brogden Literary Society 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4, Statistician; French Club 4; Critic 4; Athletic Association 3, 4.

Anne Lib is the best of friends, the same today and forever. She is the shining exception to the rule that a conscientious student is never jolly. If it's true that laughing makes one fat, Anne Lib should be a wee bit plump. She is striving to remedy the said plumpness by being an active member of the Orange Juice Quartet. Her love affairs are numerous and have a "crushing" effect. We wonder—are the "oranges" responsible for the "crushes"?

RALPH HENRY LEWIS

"AL JOLSON"

Bank 3; Manager 4; Glee Club 3, 4; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Cabinet Member 3, 4; Vice-President 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 2; Hi-Y Club 3; Stunt Cast 4.

Ralph is a very determined fellow who gives the impression of being easy-going. He is quite musical, he can sing, can play in the band, and whistle when alone. Ralph is taking a commercial course and hopes some day to become able to finance a reunion of 1929, and manage the affair as capably as he did "The Village Band."

MARTHA O'HAGAN MASON

"PATSY"

*"In the lilt of Irish laughter
You can hear the angels sing."*

Lila Brogden Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Art Staff, Messenger 2, 3; Commercial Club 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer, Treasurer 4; Program Committee 4.

With us she is not "the Patsy" whom everyone hides in a corner, but a lovely Patsy whom we bring forth on all occasions. From that name of hers we suspect that she is Irish and her blue eyes confirm our suspicions. It is whispered that the Lila Brogden Society would not be half so well pinned-up if it were not for Patsy, for to her fell the tasks of putting the symbols of membership on the members. Being one of the preferred type gives Patsy a crushing advantage over the rest of the young ladies.

LEONARD LEWIS

"SUNNY"

"Speech is silver! silence is golden."

Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Band 4; Athletic Association 4; Stunt Cast 4.

Leonard possesses a keen mind which makes him an excellent student, and lovely which makes him distinctive. He is very reserved and it is only after close acquaintance that one loses the impression that he is quiet and unfriendly. Leonard is a very likeable chap who surprised all by his clever imitations of "Dimpled Marjorie."

MARIAN GRAHAM McCracken

*"Of all the girls that are so smart!
There's none like popular Marian."*

Athletic Association 3, 4; Brogden Literary Society 1, 3, 4; Secretary 1, Treasurer 3, 4; President 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 1, 3, 4; Assistant Literary Editor 1, 3; Literary Editor 4; French Club 4; Girl's Basketball 1, 3, 4; Varsity 3, 4; Class Secretary 4; "Stunt" Cast 3, 4; Senior Play 4; Queen's Court 4; Home Room President 4.

Maid Marian who charmed Robin Hood had nothing on our Marian who has charmed us all. From contact with her on the Hi-Rocket staff, literary societies, and numerous other activities in which she participates, everyone has obtained the true personification of friendship. There's nothing that she doesn't try—and make a success of! Never did that song mean so much as when we say to Marian, "We could not do without you."

SAMUEL E. LINDSEY

"SAM"

*"Who, as he sung, would take the prisoned soul
And lap it in Elysium."*

Glee Club 1, 2, 3, 4; President Boys' Glee Club 3, 4; Athletic Association 4.

We have learned that Sam has "stickability" due to the fact that he has been with us for quite a while. With his pleasing voice coupled with a little knowledge, there is no doubt of future worthwhile accomplishments (even among hard-boiled nurses). Sam has so successfully led the Boys' Glee Club that we all know that his future success as a doctor will be assured for his voice may prove more effective than his powders and pills.

NANCY MCDANIEL

"NAN"

"Loveliness"

*Needs not the foreign aid of ornament,
But is when unadorn'd, adorn'd the most."*

Hi-Rocket Staff 4; Messenger Staff 4; Glee Club 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 4.

Nancy's personality is as soothing and fragrant as a lotus flower. From China, where she has spent most of her life, she seems to bring an old world dreaminess. Contrary to expectations, Nancy is quite the American girl here and has proved a capable basket-ball manager and a talented writer on the Hi-Rocket staff. Yet the rush of high school life leaves her calm, sweet poise untouched.

ELIZABETH ANN MOSELEY

"LIB"

"Then she will talk—ye gods! how she will talk."

Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Blue Triangle 4; Dramatic Club 4; Coroso Players 4; Girls' Basketball 4; Commercial Club 4.

"Oh dear, I didn't mean to talk so much, but I'm just made that way!" That's Chatterbox first, last, and maybe always. Elizabeth gets a big kick out of talking, if only to cause Mrs. Stackhouse to give her a smile. Listen now, though her little tongue chatters when her big brain rattles, the Cornelia Spencer Literary Society programs never suffer from attention of the program chairman.

ROBERT MALONE

"BOB"

"Of every noble work the silent past is best."

Athletic Association 4.

Here we come with trumpet and drums to announce Robert Malone (because he won't blow his own horn) as the champion shock absorber of the Senior Class. Though the clocks of time should turn backward and the earth reverse its rotation, Robert would maintain his poise and preserve his silence intact. However, when he is in English class, you should see the coy glances, and shy looks, and, eventually, rosy blushes which he showers upon the girls around him.

CLARA ELIZABETH MURRAY

"NOSEY"

"A winsome, wee thing."

Girls' Club 2, 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Girls' Basketball Team 2.

Clara is just a little "whirlwind" in herself. No doubt you have already learned this by not only noticing her actions on the basketball court, but also her breezing about the school. If she is not up to some mischief or trying to answer a question in Miss Herr's English class, she is burying her head in one of her dearest possessions, "French Chârdenal"—a very appreciated gift with which she kindly associates the name of Mlle. Weston.

MINNIE LOUISE MURRAY

"TUGG"

"Love conquers all; let us, too, yield to love."

O. Henry Literary Society 1; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4; Home Room Basketball Team 1.

Like her sister, Louise is to be seen breezing in and out of the school and work. She is a regular "whirlwind" in herself and is never satisfied unless she can uproot the best of everything, both for herself and others. However, her dependability is not to be compared to a "whirlwind" (that is, hitting the high spots); but she can be called upon to do her work in the best of spirit and without slandering the "taskmaster." Louise's hobby seems to be reading Mr. Muzzy's version of American History, and it seems that she can even dream over it—it's so interesting.

W. DAILEY MANSFIELD

"PREXY"

Commercial Club 1; Co-operative Class 1, 2, 3, 4; President 3, Treasurer 4; Coroso Play 3; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Co-op Minstrel 3, 4.

A gentle mannered man whose face radiates a happy, lively spirit is Dailey. He welcomes work as opportunity and supplies patience, perseverance and industry. He possesses a helpful happy spirit, a reserved and courteous manner and a smile that wins and holds. His attitude is the type that teachers pray for and employers pay for. As the leader of the Co-ops, he is unsurpassed.

DOROTHY NEWSOM

"DOR"

"Her air, her manners, all who saw admir'd; Courteous though coy, and gentle though retir'd."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary 3; President 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 1, 3, 4; Girls' Honorary Varsity 1, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 4; French Club, Vice-president 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Queen's Court 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Vice-president 4; Junior Class, Vice-president 3; Senior Class, Treasurer 4.

An ideal student! At last, here is one we may so properly characterize as excellent in all things, whether it be in math, English, French, athletics, or any other phase of high school activities. The numerous honors she has won proclaim her a student and outstanding leader, worthy as she is beloved. But, above all, Dorothy is a true friend, a comrade of the highest type.

SAMUEL MARGOLIS

"SAM"

"The applause of listening senates to command."

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Treasurer 4; Commercial Club 3, 4; Science Club 3, 4.

If there is anything that Sam likes, it is teaching a class; and if there is anything that he likes more than that, it is teaching two. Here's hoping that he gets his share when he joins the faculty of D. H. S. in 1940! Following the example of Woodrow Wilson, Sam hopes to become the Hon. Samuel Margolis, diplomat and philosopher extraordinaire. Well, good luck, Sam.

ELIZABETH PEARSE

"BETH"

*"Her voice was ever soft,
Gentle and low—an excellent thing in woman."*

Athletic Association 2, 3, 4; Southgate Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 3; President 4; Messenger Staff 4; Statistician; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Play Cast 4; Girls' Club 2, 3, 4; Cabinet Member 4; Class Basketball 2, 3, 4; Varsity Basketball Team 4; Stunt Cast 4.

Here is a girl who really thinks, and follows her own convictions. "Beth" prefers cotton and tobacco and sunny skies, to wheat and ice and snow, so she chose Durham to dwell in. It is said that travel broadens one, so Beth has decided to go around the world. With her soft voice, charming manner and frank expression she will have little trouble in converting Orientals to admire her as we do.

WILLIAM S. MARKHAM, JR.

"FLEECY"

*"Whatever he did was done with so much ease,
In him alone 'twas natural to please."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; President 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 4; Hi-Y 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary 4; Hi-Rocket 3, 4; Messenger 4; Science Club 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Foothall Team 2, 3, 4; Basketball Team 2, 3, 4; Tennis Varsity 3, 4; Captain 3; Home Room Officer; President 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Monogram Club 3, 4.

Here is Bill—the Melter of Feminine Hearts. He possesses the beauty of Valentino, the dispatch of Alexander Hamilton, and the athletic ability of Red Grange. Sometimes we think maybe Bill is interested in some place other than Durham, maybe Mebane?

MONNIE CLARINE PERRY

"BUTTERCUP"

"Unpleasing is the face where smiles are not."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 3, 4; Athletic Association 4; Hi-Rocket 4; Messenger 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Home Room Officer, Secretary 4.

"Buttercup" aspires to be the private secretary to "some great man"—as she terms it. We all know "Buttercup" for her "sunshine-after-the-rain" smile. You will find through observation that she smiles practically nine-tenths of the time. "Buttercup" is "Johnny-on-the-spot" to cheer you up and when she's around you think that life is worthwhile.

CARL AUSTIN MUNDAY

"HUNK"

"Give me the young man who has brains enough to make a fool of himself at least once."

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 3, 4; Marshal 4; Vice-president 4.

"See America First" should be Hunk's motto. In a grey limousine, with chauffeur and footmen attending, he tours over the United States at the call of the West. His extensive trips are not due to the fact that he likes Durham less, but that he likes traveling more.

MILDRED PHILLIPS
Post Graduate

MARY ELIZABETH POLLARD
"LIB"

"And had a face like a blessing"
Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Executive Council 3; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; President 4; Dramatic Club 4; Treasurer 4; Le Cercle Francais 4; Secretary 4; Hi-Rocket 2; Messenger Staff 4; Athletic Association 2, 3, 4; Girls' Basketball 2, 3, 4; May Queen 4; Stunt Cast 4.

"Lib" is beautiful but—anything but dumb! She daily is able to get to the lunch line first without any serious disregard of traffic rules. On the basketball floor she is usually alert and has accounted for many a championship by her fast playing. In fact, "Lib" is old enough, pretty enough, and has sense enough to get along in the world without the aid of anyone although several of the stronger sex would like to be her publicity agent.

FRANK RICHARDSON MOORE
"SKEEZIX"

"Panting time toiled after him in vain."
Hi-Rocket 2, 3, 4; Managing Editor 4; Glee Club 3, 4; Boys' Quartet 4; All Southern Chorus 4; Track 3, 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Secretary 3; Vice-president 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; French Club 4; Athletic Association 4; Home Room Officer, Marshal 4; Vice-president 4.

Frank may be little, and is, but he gets there ahead of everybody else—and this is verified by his honor roll record and his reputation as a sprinter. Frank is, all the time, amusing his classmates with his little horse laugh, which he executes divinely. It would take three people to do as much work as Frank does on the Hi-Rocket Staff alone not counting all other activities in which he participates. He rolls everything from his "r's" in French to his athletic sox, and he surely knows how.

SAMMY HAZEL PRICE
"BOOTS"

"She's all my fancy painted her."
Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Cabinet Member 3; Glee Club 2, 3; Girls' Reserve 1, 2; Hi-Rocket Staff 4; Typist; Stunt Cast 3; Varsity Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4.

We all call her Hey! Hey! Hazel! You know: "those pools of blue, and shortened curls; the envy of all the plainer girls"; 'cept Hazel doesn't have curls. But, she surely is full of pep; so, like the daffodil that she is, we could call her "jocund" and get by with it.

BENNIE HOWELL PURVIS
"BEN"

"There is no wisdom like frankness"
Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; James H. Southgate Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 4; Mandolin Club 2; French Club 4; Home Room, Vice-president 4; Dramatic Club 1, 2, 4; Play Casts 2, 4; Stunt Cast 2, 4.

"Children should be seen and not heard," but never Bennie—at least, she doesn't think so for she is a second Bunker Hill, Junior. Yes, Bennie is our baby, but she'll be a success in this hard, cruel world; that is, if she will ever grow up. Shining in the bright lights of dramatic fame as well as being active in literary society work, she has also gained renown as a heart breaker among certain members of the stronger sex. She has the distinction of being suitably dressed always, and we're justly proud of our youngest.

WILLIAM J. O'BRIEN, JR.
"BILL"

*"In the lexicon of youth which Fate reserves
For a bright manhood, there is no such word
As fail."*

Hi-Rocket Staff 3, 4; Business Manager 4; President of Junior Class 3; Senior Vice-president 4; Home Room Officer, President 3, 4; Hi-Y 2, 3, 4; Treasurer 3; President 4; Athletic Association 2, 3, 4; Monogram Club 4; Tennis Team 3; Golf Team 3, 4; Captain 4; Orchestra 2, 3, 4; Band 2, 3, 4.

Another business man in the making is Bill, although he says electrical engineering is the life for him. He is small of stature, but there is nothing small about his brain, heart, or ever-ready spirit. He is such a "live wire" himself that it is natural for him to take an interest in electricity. Probably his inexhaustible energy also causes him to chase golf balls over the green and tennis balls over the court. Anyway, he goes after everything, and gets everything he goes after!

ANNIE GERTRUDE RUSSELL

"SHORTY"

"The Congress of Vienna does not walk, but it dances."
O. Henry Literary Society 3, 4; President 4; Dramatic Club 4; Stunt Cast 3; Home Room Officer 4; Chaplain 4; Program Committee 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Poster Club 4.

Gertrude has made many friends among her classmates. Although quiet and modest, she has such a pleasing and winsome way that her friendship is greatly valued. Her amiable and conscientious disposition, together with her unselfishness, assure us of her future success.

CHARLES EDWARD O'NEAL

"CHARLEY"

*"To look out and not in, and
To lend a hand."*

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4; Statistician, Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Glee Club 3, 4; Hi-Y 1, 2; Stage Manager 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer, Treasurer 4; Marshal 4; Senior Play, Technical Supervisor.

Charlie is noted for his musical laugh. As a result, it would be too bad for Silas' mule to hear that "suppressed grin" because it (the mule) would turn green with envy. Mr. O'Neal looks like a man of affairs, especially in that 1820 limousine with his chauffeur-in-livery, Carl Munday. It wouldn't do for Mr. Fisher to see this relic because Charlie would always be posing for "Body by Fisher."

IRIS ADELMA RAWLS

"IRIS"

"Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Girls' Club 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4. strangers. She might be called a tom-boy—not the kind who climbs trees, steals jam, and pulls Mary Anne's curls (although she may be guilty of these deeds), but the darling, happy-go-lucky kind. She does good work when she tries, but, Quaker-like, usually waits for the "spirit to move her."

WILLIAM EDWARD PARKER

"BILL"

"Dignity and power have weight."

Hi-Rocket 4; Messenger 4; Athletic Association 4; Orchestra 4; Commercial Club 1, 3; Stunt Cast 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Secretary; Home Room Officer, Chaplain 4; Vice-president 4.

"Bill" is our living example of that old maxim, "Laugh and grow fat," for wherever he goes he packs a smile that is matched only by weight. It is too bad that he was not in our football line, but we are partly consoled by the fact that he was doing his share for athletics from a position on the Hi-Rocket and Messenger Staffs. He has proved his reliability by never missing a game.

NANCY ROBBERSON

*"The reason firm, the temperate will;
Endurance, foresight, strength and skill."*

Lila Brogden Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Secretary 4; Hi-Rocket 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4; Girls' Club 2, 3, 4; Executive Council 4; Le Cercle Francais 4; President 4; President Student Body 4.

Nancy has made quite the enviable record in D. H. S. in several ways. Scholastically she is one of our best, and all the teachers know that they can depend on Nancy. In extra activities she has been awarded as a result of her popularity, fluency and ability, the highest office—and the most responsible—in the gift of the pupils—that of President of the Student Body. The above speaks for itself, and you may truly say that Nancy is the "Old Reliable" as well as the "Mother" of the high school.

ZALPH LAKEY ROCHELLE

"SLEWFOOT"

"He thinks like a sage, and acts like a good Samaritan."

Hi-Rocket 2, 3, 4; Joke Editor 2; News Editor 4; Messenger Staff 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Stunt Cast 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Play Cast 4; Senior Play Cast 4; Hi-Y 1, 2; Home Room Officer, Vice-president 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4.

Zalph will some day be a great zo-ologist judging from his ability to dissect bedbugs and mice. They chased him into the literary world and gained him a prize as well. He's quite a prophet, too, if one judges by his experience in prophesying the future of the illustrious Class of '29. Zalph has ideas and dares defend them to ward off serious labor along uncongenial lines. His pen has proven mightier than his sword.

NATALIE ELIZABETH REMSEN

"REMP"

"Thou dost mock at fate and care."

Girls' Club 4; Athletic Association 4; James H. Southgate Literary Society 4.

"Remp" was a well-known heart breaker in Oxford and has kept up the record since her arrival in Durham. Care-free and gay, flirting her way through life and laughing at danger, she makes her way. She is an ardent patronizer of Wrigley and has aided immensely in swelling his bank account to the startling sum which it shows today. We are sorry she moved to South Carolina before her graduation.

ANNE DURHAM ROGERS

"SPEAGLE"

"*'Tis well to be off with the old love
Before you are on with the new.*"

Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Blue Triangle 1, 2; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3; Home Room Officer 3; Treasurer 3.

Anne, our old French student, is a second Chardenal and will some day compile a grammar for use in all the leading high schools of the United States—that is, if she will keep her present record. Mastering French is not her only accomplishment because she is quite adept at English grammar and literature. Seriously, Anne is a happy-go-lucky school girl with a complexion by Palm Olive and eyes by Lucille Young, who enjoys a good time and fun as do the rest of us.

BEVERLY MOORE ROSE

"BEV"

"The mildest manners and the gentlest heart."

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Contest Play 3; Football 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 3, 4; Circulation Manager 4; Monogram Club 3; Secretary; President Senior Class 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Home Room Officer 4; President 4.

Beverly's ability to lead is shown by the style in which he has lead the Class of '29. He is a talented musician and actor, as Mr. Tim Casey will testify. Though football is supposed to be his "one" love, we might add we know one other "Is-a-belle"! Though Beverly likes to dance and play the live long day, he really has serious thoughts of becoming a famous architect, and some day adding "& Son" to the firm of Rose & Rose.

EDNA ULDINE ROGERS

"TEX"

"Eat, drink, and be merry; for tomorrow we die."

Dramatic Club 4; Play Cast 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Vice-president 2; Glee Club 1, 2; Athene Literary Society 4; Critic; Home Room Officer; President 4; Blue Triangle 1, 2; Varsity Basketball 1, 2, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Cheer Leader 1, 2, 3, 4.

Gay, merry, captivating, charming—who answers this description more exactly than Uldine? Wherever she is, there too joy abides. Though Uldine believes that studying is merely a secondary matter, many teachers, unknowingly, become victims of that winning smile. More than once this capable little cheer leader has led our teams to Victory. As she cheers through life her group of admirers will never decrease!

DAHLIA SCOGGINS

Post Graduate

HOYLE UTLEY SCOTT

"RIP"

"*A rare boy, noble and true,
With plenty of wit and sincerity too.*"

Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 2, 3; Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Science Club 3, 4; Tennis 3, 4; Julian S. Carr Literary Society 4; Stunt Cast 4; Commercial Club 3; Cabinet Member 3; Hi-Y 2, 3, 4.

Hoyle is the "shiek" although some people might call him a stonemason, er—that is, a breaker of hearts. He may be small in stature but "he's big in heart." When you want work done—ask Rip! When you want it well done—ask Rip! He is dependable and sincere—but that's not all! He has pep and plenty of "get-up-and-go," when awake.

RACHEL B. SIGLEY

"RAT"

"Great thoughts come from the heart."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Glee Club 1, 2; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 4; Messenger Staff 4, Typist; Club 4; Girls' Reserve 2; Girls' Basketball 2, 3, 4; Blue Triangle 3; O. Henry Literary Society 3.

She never fails to get her man—yes, for wherever she goes she has that winning smile with that "Come hither" look. Rachel has proved a Shylock at banking through her almost daily routine of exacting interest from Helen Strowd, her consistent customer. She will make a howling success as a radio announcer—that is, if she ever allows big numbers to get the better of her—since talking is her pet form of amusement.

EMMETT WILLIAM SHACKELFORD, JR.

"SHAKY"

"A tower of strength, which stood four square to all the winds that blow."

Hi-Rocket 2, 3, 4; Joke Editor 2; Assistant News Editor 3; News Editor 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Treasurer 3; President 4; French Club 4; Senior Play 4; Athletic Association 2, 4; Commercial Club 4; Home Room Officer, President 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4.

As we introduce Emmett we should not forget the reliable Dodge, his co-worker. It has been his only weakness and the Hi-Rocket's salvation. As a student, Emmett has made a permanent place on the honor roll; as a leader in activities he has proved himself excellent. In school and out he has given unusual service whenever called on. He welcomes responsibility as most folk do vacation and he can make love like a veteran—ask "Violet" how "Clarence" won her hand.

MARY WINBORNE SKINNER

"MAYRE"

"Grace was in all her steps, heaven in her eye."

Hi-Rocket Staff 2, 3, 4; Assistant News Editor 2, 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Chaplain 3; Secretary 4; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Girls' Basketball 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer; Secretary and Treasurer 4.

We just dare anyone to try to stop Mary when she gets "going." 'G'est impossible! Guess you've noticed her fast work on the basketball courts? Well, that's where she begins, and she doesn't finish until she has very calmly chased all over the building compiling literary society programs for the Hi-Rocket. Nevertheless, she makes her task more pleasant by going by the "Holloway."

LOUIS SHER

"LA"

"Good at a fight but better at a play."

Commercial Club 1, 2, 3; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 3; Secretary 2; Julian S. Carr Literary Society 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 1, 2, 3, 4; Basketball 1, 2, 3, 4; Captain 3; Baseball 3; Monogram Club 1, 2, 3, 4.

Whoopie! Here comes our athlete! Louis, like his brother, Phil, has studied basketball and the other sports until—well, he just simply knows them! But that is not all—contrary to one's natural expectations, Louis does not neglect his studies all the time for sports.

ELSIE SMITH

"Piano players are born first—and then made."

Dramatic Club 2, 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 2, 3, 4.

Wow! What was that noise? We might have known it was Elsie "tearing that old piano to pieces." She does it with such great ability, though, that one might call her an artist. With mussed up hair and smocks? No, but very skilled in the fine arts of music and painting. Elsie's heart has taken so many flips that she has to "pin" it down to keep it in place.

JOHN DRAKE SMITH

"JOHN PIM"

"The man that said he was a wit was 100% right."

Hi-Rocket Staff 4; Editorial Staff; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; President 4; Stunt Cast 4; Dramatic Club 4; Play Cast 4; Senior Play Cast 4; Hi-Y 4; Athletic Association 4; Home Room Officer, President 4.

"Mr. Pim" was certainly an added attraction in the Senior Class! From the lead in "Mr. Pim Passes By" to a cheer leader—such is his variety in life. He has spice too—ask Miss Herr how she likes to coach a literary society stunt when this droll individual "gets going." We think that our John Smith has so much energy, brains, and wit that John Alden wouldn't have a ghost of a chance "to speak for himself," certainly not around Priscilla.

MARIAN LUCILLE SNEED

"SMUG"

*"O saw ye the lass wi the bonnie blue 'een?
Her smile is the sweetest that ever was seen."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 3; Home-Room Officer, Vice-President 4; Blue Triangle 4, President 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Marshal 3; Treasurer 4; President 4; Senior Play 4.

"If you have the sunshine, you must have the rain"—tra la! "Smug" is one of the pretty golden rays of our class, and you should see her shine! One can not help feeling the warmth of her radiant smile. Nothing worries her; nothing disturbs her, but she is always ready to cheer up someone else. Marian must be careful of her friendly glances or someone might return them—and—but wait! Time will tell!

MARY STEELE SNEEDEN

"MOLLY"

"My heart is as true as steel."

Girls' Commercial Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Record Committee 4; Athletic Association 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 1, 2, 3, 4; Chaplain 4; Poster Club 4; Coroso Play 3; Dramatic Club 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3; Commercial Club 3, 4.

Mary Steele is one of our quiet, young ladies, who talks little but does much. She is so modest and retiring that she blushes beautifully every time he passes by. Yet, when Mary discards this shyness, you should hear her giggle! Men seem to be her weakness, especially such historical characters as Alexander, Napoleon, and Martin Luther. Anyway, she chooses to ride in Buicks on Mangum Street. Who with? No, not Napoleon!

MYER NATHAN STADIEM

"JEREMIAH"

"Smile with an intent to do mischief, or cozen him when he salutes."

Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Stunt Night 4; Commercial Club 2, 3.

Big, fat, and jolly! That's Myer. But the little phrase did not mention work and that accounts for his jollity. About the only conception that "Jeremiah" has, is working to keep from working. Well, that surely is a nice way to amuse one's self. Myer's supreme ambition is to lie on flowery beds of ease forever and a day, and drink deep of the wisdom of the ages if some one offers him the cup.

HELEN STROWD

"BUZZARD"

"I am in earnest. I will not equivocate; I will not excuse; I will not retreat a single inch; and I will be heard!"

Hi-Rocket 4; Messenger Staff 4; James H. Southgate Literary Society 3, 4; Stunt Cast 4; Senior Play 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Girls' Basketball 1, 3.

Though somewhat addicted to an orange juice diet to keep her "girlish figure," lack of food doesn't cramp Helen's style. She is quite in her element breezing around this institution with either Hi-Rocket articles, a copy of "Paradise Lost," or a tennis racquet under her arm. "In freta dum fluvii current!" and other expressions from Virgil's pen hold no terrors for this versatile young student, for did she not help bring home the cup in the Latin Contest? Her own searching wit revealed the true characteristic of every Senior in the "Messenger" write-ups. So—give this little girl a hand!

LOLA BLANCHE SOUTHERLAND

"LOLA BEE"

"Not too serious, not too gay."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Vice-president of Girls' Unit 4; Athletic Association 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society, Secretary 2; Blue Triangle 3; Glee Club 2; Hi-Rocket Staff 4; Typist 4; Home Room 6A1, Secretary.

Lola spins yards and yards of smiles throughout the day and sets everybody else doing it. Long before you see her, you can hear her laugh. She works continuously and never fails to make her minutes count. She has the happy faculty of co-operation and—well, she has been a big helper in everything she has undertaken.

LAMBERT SYKES

"Silence is deep as Eternity, speech is shallow as Time."

Boys' Glee Club 4.

This way, girls, for the realization of your life's hopes! Lambert, being a great French student at heart, just gloats over his "parley-voos" and even goes so far as to wish you a merry "bon jour." Is he good looking? Oui, oui, mesdemoiselles!

ANNA JULIA SWITZER

"ANN"

"Gentle of speech, beneficent of mind."

Athena Literary Society 4; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 4; Glee Club 2; Home Room Secretary 4.

Anna loves everybody, and everybody loves Anna. Useful and hard working, she has made a deep niche for herself in the hearts of all. Her ambition is to be an expert stenographer in some large business firm and we are sure she will accomplish this for she is sincere in her ability. Of course, everyone knows that no task is too great or too insignificant for her and with such genuineness as this, happiness will certainly be hers.

MARY WALLACE TEEL

"Whose little body lodg'd a generous heart."

Girls' Club 3, 4; Commercial 3, 4; Messenger Staff 4, Typist.

Although Mary is a minister's daughter, she is not like most of them—(naughty little girls who are always getting themselves in and out of trouble)—for she is a demure little miss who takes life as it comes—with a smile. Mary's work is accurate and always deserves praise which is taken modestly. Oh yes! She is a good cook, too! She will make some man a good wife for "the way to a man's heart is through his stomach." Mary is conscientious and her smile will be missed when she is gone.

WILLIAM SHEARER TROXELL

"BILL"

"We meet thee, like a pleasant thought."

Music Club 4; Orchestra 4; Mixed Chorus 4; Male Chorus 4; Mixed Quartette 4; Wood-wind Ensemble 4; Hi-Rocket Staff, Art Editor 4; Messenger Staff 4.

Having been with us less than one school year, William has proved himself to be an artist as a saxophonist, and an elusive aboe player, but withal he's a jolly good fellow. "Bill" has aroused a great deal of interest in and admiration for his dance orchestra, which is "the thing itself." Though young in years, William is almost a genius in the ability to get and apply knowledge. He's the stuff that great men are made of.

FRANCES LOUISE THOMAS

"PIC"

*"She takes the breath of men away
Who gaze upon her unaware."*

Girls' Club 3, 4.

East is west, and both come to one point, which is Central High. Hailing from East Durham, Frances joined our ranks two years ago, using as her motto the optimistic side of the "worn-out" statement, "So tired of trying." Yes sirc! But, you know, girls always say the opposite from what they mean, and that accounts for that. Ever since Eve offered Adam her apple core, women have been baiting the poor blind men. Frances' one desire in life is to be a second Dorothy Dix.

CHRISTINE ARNOLD UMSTEAD

"CHRIS"

*"And though she promised to her loss
She makes her promise good."*

Girls' Club 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; Marshall 3; Vice-president 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Basketball 3, 4; Home Room, Secretary 4.

One of the numerous Umsteads, who, indeed, has upheld the family reputation for making their point intended. In fact, she made a name for herself creating programs for the Cornelia Spencer Literary Society. She's as cheerful as the day is long except when some wretch mentions English—then she rhapsodizes.

LEE E. VICKERS

"VICK"

"He thought as a sage, though he felt as a lad."

Hi-Rocket Staff 1, 2, 3, 4; Literary Staff 1, 2, 3; News Staff 4; Messenger, Statistician 4; Athletic Association 3, 4.

No, you are mistaken this time—for this is not an honor roll list! Whenever Lee's name appears in print it naturally suggests the honor roll. He has the reputation of never being baffled by a teacher, which fact alone proves his cleverness. Though Lee is quite studious, he truly believes that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy—so he spends a great deal of his time at the Rialto. Though he could easily play his way to fame as a vaudeville artist with his lyrical soprano it would be a great loss to the literary world if he did not use his remarkable talent for writing.

MYRTICE CHARLOTTE WARD

*"Two souls with but a single thought,
Two hearts that beat as one."*

Girls' Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 3, 4; News Staff 3, 4; Messenger 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4; Secretary 4; Athletic Association 2, 3, 4; Home Room Office 4; Critic 4.

Truly a remarkable person—most extraordinary, in fact, is Myrtice. She does excellent work in school, shares in extra activities, wins honors in music, sees every football and basketball game that the high school plays, goes to at least three movies a week, and listens to someone "Howell" about four nights out of every seven. Ain't love grand?

ROBERT NORTH WILSON, JR.

"BOB"

"The sweet remembrances of the just Shall flourish when he sleeps in dust."

Science Club 3, 4, President 4; Athletic Association 3, 4; Glee Club 4; Messenger, Literary Editor 4; Varsity Football 4; Monogram Club 4; Secretary and Treasurer 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Home Room Officer, President 4.

The ideal American boy! There is hardly a boy living who has not, at one time or another in his life, aspired to the time when he should pilot his own airplane or run his own locomotive. And that is just where Bob has excelled. He has proved his initiative in combining, successfully, mechanical genius and common sense—a feat which very few practical men have accomplished. But that is not all! No one could ever hope to have a more sincere friend than Bob, and that goes for all times!

BEULAH BELLE WILLIAMS

"BILLIE"

"She worked while others played."

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Glee Club 1; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4; Science Club 2; Basketball 2.

Hard work certainly has good results! At least it does in Beulah's case. We hardly ever hear from this quiet and unassuming little lass who works before she plays. Though ever so quiet now, someday Beulah will blossom forth as the private secretary to Mr. Millionaire, and then her sense will also bring dollars!

EUGENE HUGHES WILLIAMS, JR.

"GENE"

*"The man that hails you with a smile,
And always goes the second mile."*

Band 1, 2, 3, 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 4; Science Club 3, 4, Secretary 4, President 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 3, 4, Secretary 4, Treasurer 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Hi-Y 3, 4.

Eugene is inclined to be rather meditative, but he is steady, so what more could we wish? Most of his decisions are made tactfully and factfully. His greatest pastime is studying, and even girls find it hard to divert him from his one love. His heart is bigger than his body when it comes to helping the other fellow, and we are sure that he will make a successful business man because of his generous nature, earnest endeavor, and foresight.

Our Quest

Long have we built our castles in the air,
And dreamed our dreams of some far field and fair
Where bright ideals conquer dull despair.

Like knights of olden days in shining mail,
We seek our fame on high adventure's trail,
With hearts courageous so we cannot fail.

Ere from thy castle gates we bravely go,
We kneel that thou a blessing may bestow,
And pledge our faith to thee with heads bowed low.

Whatever lands may call us far away
Thy favor and thy name will always stay ;
We'll ever hold aloft thy banner gay.

Our quest is just begun, our hopes are high,
We go with dauntless faith and loyalty,
To raise thy name and honor to the sky.

MARIAN GRAHAM McCracken.

Class History of '29

The task of writing the history of the Class of 1929 had fallen to me, and I was at a loss to know how I should present it. Thinking of this matter as I stood in the laboratory, dissecting a butterfly, my thoughts turned from the class history to the creature I was anatomizing. What a marvelous career it had had! First it was an egg, then, a caterpillar, later, a cocoon, and finally, a gorgeous butterfly. It had passed through four stages, a great change taking place each time. Suddenly I was struck by the remarkable similarity between the history of my class and the history of the butterfly's metamorphosis. As a result of this similarity, I decided in unfolding the class history, to compare it to the evolution of a butterfly. But as all metaphors lose their force beyond a certain point, I trust, gentle reader, that you will fill in gaps with your imagination.

One bright September day, four years ago, a nest of eggs—the embryonic class of 1929—was found hidden among the leaves of the Alma Mater tree in the garden of D. H. S. So insignificant and colorless were these eggs that their presence was hardly known; yet, the faculty gardeners tended them carefully, and saw to it that they received plenty of sunshine and protection from the enemies of healthy growth. The members of the little group were so similar in appearance and so small in size that it was hard to distinguish one from another. Occasionally, however, some egg would show exceptional expansion. At the end of nine months, these eggs had developed internally until they were strong enough to burst their shells, and to emerge into a new world, full of sunshine and hope.

Now the larvae, having broken the shells of the eggs, began to feed ravenously on all the leaves of the tree of knowledge. The newness of the place and the tender age of the larvae kept the little creatures huddled together around a huge caterpillar, Albert Edwards. In the atmosphere of encouragement, warm from the winds of kindly interest, they grew large, and in nine months were ready to wind themselves into cocoons.

The next stage began with much activity, as the caterpillars, well fed and developed, began to spin the cocoons. One small but active spinner, William O'Brien, held the members together on the Junior tree. Some of these received special attention as prize winners in declamation contests; Nathaniel Gregory, carried to Wake Forest and Guilford Colleges, won two medals; Helen Card and David Jaffe, at home in the Woman's Declamation contest each took one. Jacob Levin, at the University of North Carolina, was acknowledged second best spinner in Latin in a state-wide contest of spinners in the high school field. Just before they fell asleep in their Junior cradles, they had a great display of spinning for fun before the famous family of '28, preceding the last flight of that distinguished group from the garden of D. H. S. The setting was a fairyland, brilliantly colorful as the rainbow hued butterflies that had been tempted to come. Poised and pleased, they watched the last demonstration of Junior cleverness for their entertainment. The lights faded, the cocoons were closed and sealed to await the coming of a new day.

After three months of sleep and of swaying in the gentle breezes of vacation time, the cocoons burst open one morning in September and the air was alive with gorgeously hued butterflies flitting about gracefully, trying to grow accustomed to the Senior stage in which they found themselves. At a signal from the watching gardeners all began to settle down to the task of gathering for the future what had been left untouched, and radiantly happy the days in the garden flew.

After much fluttering about with whirring of wings, an especially popular butterfly, Beverly Rose, was chosen leader of the group. From the garden two were selected as student leaders for the whole bevy, Nancy Roberson and Nathaniel Gregory, to keep close the four classes in the various stages of development that the gardeners were in charge of. Great excitement reigned when the first recognition came for work well done, and on the museum roll of honor these names appeared at various times: Frank Moore, Dorothy Newsom, Marian McCracken, Myrtice Ward, W. J. O'Brien, Jr., Margaret King, Lucile Draughon, Marjorie Glasson, Annie Markham, Eugene Williams, Helen Strowd. The garden buzzed again when Marjorie Glasson, leader of a bevy known as the Hi-Rocket Staff, displayed a gold medal won at the national meet of The Columbia Scholastic Press Association. From another corner, Lois Foster soared with first, and Marian McCracken and Helen Strowd, with third and fourth, honors in a state-wide Latin contest. David Jaffe gathered for himself a gold medal in the declamation contest in the Wake Forest College garden, and Helen Card found one waiting at Guilford College in the heart of a recitation contest flower. Then Eugene Williams and Worth Perry each startled the science gardeners by winning second place in a state contest in chemistry. Ere half the year had gone, suddenly a bevy at the will of the gardeners, flew away to college gardens for food to continue their growth. It was the regular Mid-year flight.

To vary the routine and to add zest to the passing days, a gay company, Marian Sneed, Emmett Shackelford, Helen Card, John Smith, Zalph Rochelle, Marjorie Glasson, Helen Strowd, Marian McCracken, Sidney Bowden, and Nat Gregory presented "Clarence" to the other butterflies. Soon after the brilliant assemblage, at the call of the butterflies-to-be, the Junior family, whirled and flitted about in the glow of the soft lights in a secluded part of the garden, the gym. When the skies grew soft, and the air balmy, the Queen of the May, Elizabeth Pollard, called two butterflies, court beauties, Dorothy Newsom and Marian McCracken, to attend her at the revels, when she welcomed Summer into the garden.

Then a certain uneasiness began to be noticed among the butterflies. Red letter days were at hand. The mad whirl of work and play slackened, and poised and tense, the gardeners kept at work, soothing the weary, comforting the fearful, and strengthening the weak during a storm known as "finals" that threatened the lives of the tender insects.

Departure was imminent. Calls had come from the world of opportunity beyond the Durham High garden, and the whole bevy answered. The butterflies flitted about nervously. In preparation for the flight, the brilliant wings were folded under gay casing, caps and gowns. Then the bevy reluctantly rose away into the blue followed by the blessings of the watchers in the hushed garden of D. H. S. below.

DAVID JAFFE,
MYRTICE WARD.

The Prophecy of the Class of 1929

My partner was dead to begin with. There was no doubt about that for personally I had superintended the funeral and had seen him lowered into the cold, cruel ground to rest with the bones of his father until Gabriel called.

I had lived the nine years following his death in solitude, and let our prosperous business slip gradually through my butter-like fingers, until on the crucial night of February 2, 1955, I found myself approaching the hovel in the bowery that represented home.

As I crept up the rotting stairs, it seemed that his face rode just a few feet before me.

Shaking my head to drive this fantasy from my weary brain, and deciding that the vision was probably the effect of the stale bread and mouldy meat that I had dined on, I entered my dingy room and threw myself at full length upon the damp and filthy floor.

I was aroused with a start by the touch of an icy finger. Before me stood my former partner, clothed in the ghostly white robes of burial.

"Who art thou?" I shrieked in a wild frenzy of fear, "and why dost thou who art so long dead appear at my bedside?"

"Sluggard," spoke the cold voice of the phantom, "I am come to show thee scenes of happiness that thou mightest have enjoyed—had it not been for thy wastefulness, and thy lack of proper ambition."

"Go, spirit, trouble me no more and do not recall to a wasted life the memories of things that might have been."

I plead and yet, I was possessed with an ardent desire to see those friends of my high school days whom I had known before my ambition left me and I had lost all interest in this job of living.

To the spectre, my mind was as an open book and reading therein my innermost desires, it answered by drawing me through the paneless window and out into the cold and moonlit night, far above the drowsy city, only to descend to the steps of a gigantic cathedral built by John Smith and Charles O'Neal, architects and constructors of note.

As we paused in the doorway before entering I glanced around me. From the dress and general appearance of those gathered, I judged that there must be some ceremony in progress connected with the social elite of the city, and it was rumored that one of the world's greatest financiers, Carlyle Carrington, originator of Carrington's Cure for Sleeping Sickness, was expected.

We entered the church, and, at that moment, I realized we were attending a wedding, for before the altar I beheld Nathaniel Alexander Gregory, thrice a widower, embarking for the fourth time on the sea of matrimonial difficulty with a very young bride, who so closely resembled Elizabeth Pollard that she certainly must have been her grand-daughter.

"Nat still think he's Ponce de Leon," remarked Lillian Allen to her partner Madame Newsom of the American Beauty Salone, "and he reminds me of Ponce de Leon Felton Hayes the way he tried to keep his youth."

I moved away from these leaders of the feminine world of business and drew closer to a group gathered around Frances Thomas and Nancy Woods who now lived on the campus in order to better fill their positions as chaperones to little Duke University freshmen.

From them I found that Bennie Purvis was extremely excited for she had just been appointed president of a dramatic school where she could talk when, where, and as much as she pleased without being interrupted by her superiors.

Suddenly, my attention was detracted from these interesting tidbits of conversation by sweet music drifting down from above, and on looking into the choirloft I beheld Robert Wilson, Frank Moore, Sam Lindsey, Charles Knott, Josephine Fuller, Winford Bobbitt and Beulah Williams, accompanied by Josephine Laprade, director of Laprade's National Jazz Orchestra, smiling as they sang "The Dream of Love" composed for the occasion by William Troxell, successor to Irving Berlin, and his understudy Elsie Smith.

As we left the cathedral I noticed that we were walking side by side with Jane Barker, and, as she seemed in somewhat a pensive mood, we followed her into a secluded room of the new Henley Hotel where she joined a group of fellow senators composed of Jacob Levin, Bill Parker, Frank Iler, David Jaffe, and Mary Teel who were endeavoring to formulate a scheme by which they could force the presiding Sam Margolis to grant a hearing on the twelve months school bill presented by the National Secretary of Education, Lee Vickers. Though I would have liked to have heard more about the bill, the limited time demanded that we depart and after possibly fifteen minutes of travel in the upper regions of the atmosphere I began to notice landmarks familiar to my childhood, and to my surprise I found myself standing in front of a sixteen story building that advertised itself as being owned by Robert Malone and used as the new home of the daily paper "Truth Uneducated."

I entered the main office and before me I beheld several competent secretaries engrossed in their work which had been made lighter by the popular SOL(L)O-WAY system. In this group, I recognized Margaret Christmas, Madeline Marshall, Sadye Levin, Elsie Oakley, Clarine Perry, Rachel Sigley, and Anna Switzer.

Suddenly my thoughts were violently interrupted by a shout issuing from the general direction of Editor Shackelford's office that announced in no uncertain terms that book agents were unwelcome visitors; and in a shower of paper weights, ink bottles, and books, one budding aspiring poet in the person of Leonard Lewis and two high pressure salesmen, namely, Willis Aldridge and Hugh Alexander, made a dash for liberty.

Fearing that specters and other invisible guests might receive the same hearty welcome, I begged my supernatural partner to leave and as he seemed in the same state of mind, we floated out into the peace and quiet of the night and across the city to the hospital of one Dr. Clyde Dunnegan.

To my surprise on entering the building I noticed that the largest Ward was named Myrtice and I could not refrain from mentioning How-Well it was kept and how appetizing was the tray sent up for Catherine Farthing, a patient who was now Secretary to the President. The phantom informed me that the reputation of the food was due mainly to the diligence of the two famous dietitians, Nancy McDaniel and Stough Gantt, and that the well ordered appearance of the place was the result of the unceasing efforts of that spinster, Annie Durham Rogers, to make everything as precise as possible.

As it is not safe for one with tonsils or adenoids to remain in a hospital for any length of time, lest infection result, we made our departure before Sergeants Adams and Cockman had a chance to get us in power; and, after traveling with the winds for several minutes, we drifted down to the quiet and peaceful campus of old D. H. S.

There was nothing singular about the peaceful grove, and I thought perhaps we had stopped for a rest when I noticed before me a pillar of the whitest marble extending into the heavens. My curiosity was aroused, and as I approached I was able to discern the following inscription:

“Dedicated to the faculty of 1929 by the club of '55 to commemorate the heart breaking ordeal of holding the lamp of knowledge before the blind students in '29.”

This touching dedication was signed by Leland Garrison, principal, and his staff of teachers including Clara and Louise Murray, Marian Sneed, Mildred O'Brien, Hazel Price, Mary Skinner, and Lucile Draughon, who were trying to uphold the high rating won for the school by Iris Rawl and Gertrude Russell in the year of '29.

I was unable to stand the strain of the memories that seemed to flood my spirit and was only too glad to follow when the phantom beckoned with its bony finger to signify that the time had come for our departure.

We traveled west and then dropped mystically through the roof of the Corbin Building into the reception room of Anne Elizabeth Markham's Silhouette Parlor. The spectre dropped easily into one of the plush chairs manufactured by Love & Beard, Inc., and with a nod of its bare dome signified that the room was at my disposal.

Hung at random upon the walls, I found examples of this famous artist's work and here and there the silhouette of some famous person from which I easily separated the portraits of Marjorie Glasson, President of Saint Cecilia's Select School for Talented Girls; Frances Council, dean of Chrysler Driving School; Margaret Henry King, who had just won the national prize for music composition offered by the John Rigsbee Music Club of America; and Nancy Roberson, the first woman president of the United States.

Once again that magnetic hand beckoned, and though it was my greatest desire to remain and learn more of the art, I was powerless under the sinister force of the phantom. With closed eyes, I obediently followed and when my senses returned I found myself in the magnificent Margaret Harris Theatre.

The spell woven by the twirling dancers as they moved across the stage, held me in its thrall, and as the fantastic movements continued I recognized a few of the beautiful terpsichoreans who were formerly my class mates as Mae Bell Draughon, Helen Card, Fontelle Cozart, and Ina Lee Collins. Sidney Bowden, the famous producer, announced the world's speediest lecturer, Estelle Apperson, who was campaigning with Chester Berry for Claiborne Byrd as Governor of North Carolina. This speech was to be illustrated with motion pictures of a free barbecue given by Hon. Wm. O'Brien, U. S. Senator, at Raiford Farthing's country home.

Scarcely had I settled down to enjoy the performance, when the phantom once again compelled me to expose my aching physique to the ravages of the elements as we traveled northward for perhaps two hours. I deeply regretted leaving the warmth and comfort of the theatre for before we were finally descended to the city street, I was chilled to the bone.

Directly above my head, emblazoned on an ancient clapboard, I noticed the inscription Ye Olde Curiosity Shoppe and slightly to the right the name of H. Germano & M. Stadiem.

The phantom swung the creaking door on its rusty hinges, and I entered and began to examine the stock of my former friends. Directly before me, I saw a large French doll of Florence Crutchfield's creation.

Encased in glass in a far corner of the room, I beheld a high chair of old English pattern that was said to have been in the room when Ozelle Cannady, Ruth Johnson, Annie Claytor, Lillian Cooke, and Ruby Crumpacker met and framed that famous petition asking Congress to pass a bill granting to women drivers the privilege of "right of way," always.

The brilliant moonlight flooded through the tiny window and lit an ancient bookcase where were many ponderous and worm eaten volumes from which I picked a Latin grammar edited by Drs. Lois Foster, Jack Still, and Merle Cottrell, of Chicago University, and a French primer by Monsieur Edward Kersey and Mademoiselle Patsy Mason, exchange professors from the University of Paris. These books were published by the firm of Sykes & Coleman, Inc.

Leaving the Olde Curiosity Shoppe we passed swiftly down the narrow street to one of the large docks of the city. As we drew closer to the lowered gang-plank of a gigantic steamer of the Johnson and Jones Line, I immediately recognized Edna Griffin, Mary Hicks, Grace Iler, and Elizabeth Mosely, all employees of the "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Silent Seniors," who were causing the two agents, Aubrey Cheek and James Adams, much worry by detaining the U. S. Ambassador to Japan, Elizabeth Pearse, with the usual prattle of departure.

From the mixed and hurried conversation I gathered that Claiborne Hurst, Ralph Lewis, William Markham, and Louis Sher, had been made rich overnight by a sudden rise in value of the stock of the "J. A. Taylor Bunion Derby Mines" which they had bought from Hoyle Scott of the New York Exchange. I also learned that Marian McCracken and Uldine Rogers had taken off from the Sneedan Airport in an endeavor to make a non-stop flight around the globe in order to equal the record set by Beverly Rose and Eugene Williams the previous year and that they were booked by the famous trio, Strother, Stroud, and Southerland, to enlarge their vaudeville act for the coming season at the Umstead Theatre.

Suddenly the shrieking blast of the steamboat whistle and the dazzle of red, yellow and blue lights faded.

When the sense of feeling returned to my poor body I was lying at full length upon the floor of my dingy room.

With an aching head and heavy heart I staggered to the open window and gazed far out over the sleeping city. Looking toward the east I beheld the first streaks of grey that announced the approaching dawn, and while a drowsy wren trilled to its sleepy mate in the nearby chimney corner, I bent my weary head in a silent prayer of thanks to the guardians of the fates who had granted me the privilege of seeing once again those friends of days gone by.

To the bird in the chimney corner it was the dawn of a new day; but to me it was the dawn of a new life, for after beholding the happiness of the Class of '29, I firmly resolved to fight life's battles anew so that at the final roll call I might be able to add one laurel leaf to the crown of my ALMA MATER.

ZALPH ROCHELLE.

Last Will and Testament

The good school year of 1928-1929 having come to a dramatic close, an event which will sever us, the "Illustrious Seniors," from our beloved daily haunts, sacred to us, and our friends, therein, who have inspired our endeavors, we deem it wise, ere that time to allot the personal property and talents—otherwise the belongings, and characteristics of our classmates—to those who have merited them. Hence:

I. We, the Class of '29 bequeath to the Class of '30 our dignity, perseverance, and loyalty with the fame which we have so illustriously won.

II. To the Junior Class we will the privileges of flying in any branch of school service if Mr. Warren and the faculty deem the rising Seniors able to leave the ground at all.

III. We bequeath to the Class of '30 the trust of all memorials bequeathed to D. H. S. and we request that they carry on the precedent of cap and gown for graduation, which this class has started.

IV. We bequeath to the rising Seniors the privilege of publishing a Chaucer album under the able directorship of Miss Herr.

V. We leave our research station, the library and its custodian, Mrs. Stackhouse, to those who are able to maintain a scholarly silence for forty-five minutes.

VI. Robert Atwood wills his happy smile, appealing innocence and mighty stature to George Holloway.

VII. "Kat" Farthing wills to Eleanor Markham her wanton wiles for ensnaring and enticing the timorous hearts of the fair admirers.

VIII. Chester Berry leaves his bright orange sweater to Robert Hobgood with the hope that "Bob's" hair fades to match its color.

IX. Helen Card wills her power to interpret character, with her voice and gestures, to Nell Atwater to make living portraits of her sketches.

X. Sir Sidney Bowden bequeaths his immaculate appearances and sunny smile to the D. H. S. museum as a perfect specimen of "Bobbie."

XI. To Lyne Few, Marjorie Glasson wills the Hi-Rocket with instructions to comb the school for news and the nation for another gold medal.

XII. Beverly Rose wills his inexhaustible energy and ambition to Stuart Suitt who at present is Martha Johnson's shadow.

XIII. David Jaffe leaves his oratorical medal to Virginia Rogers if she ever finishes that speech that she tried to make in assembly.

XIV. Josephine LaPrade leaves James Holloway her musical fingers so that he may be able to play duets with Mary Skinner at the first class reunion.

XV. Bill Markham wills his athletic stars to the most promising athlete in D. H. S.; namely, Spec Ferrell.

XVI. Dorothy Newsom wills her versatility to any girl of the Junior Class who can successfully pilot the Girls' Club, win letters in basketball and at the same time be an "A" student in all subjects.

XVII. Felton Hayes wills his craftsmanship at love making to Dan Edwards, the John Gilbert of the Sophomore Class.

XVIII. Nancy Roberson wills her unique ability of being in three places at the same time to Mary Taggart with a warning to carry a triple daily excuse for faculty lookouts.

XIX. Charles Knott bequeaths his inexhaustible supply of Wrigley's to Lida R. Yow to be surrendered to office objectors or to come finally to rest on the under side of the cafeteria tables.

XX. Bennie Purvis wills her baby ways to any girl who can make an asset of these in winning hearts like baby Bennie.

XXI. Lee Vickers whom Nancy Roberson presented to the public bequeaths his ability to hide behind his grave exterior the cleverness of Eddie Cantor, to "Tubby" Harris who is the champion Keith artist of the Toms-Carmichael Society.

XXII. Marian McCracken wills her magic red ink pen that left a vivid Hi-Rocket trail to Jane Wilson to cut capers in Roy Phipp's memory book or on Ed Ratcliffe's heart.

XXIII. Carlyle Carrington wills his melodious voice to Joseph McCracken to use as an accompaniment to Joseph's winning smile. Girls! Beware!

XXIV. Elizabeth Pearse leaves her soft Wisconsin drawl as a shock absorber to Elizabeth McDonald to be used whenever the latter speaks.

XXV. Robert Malone wills his eternal silence on all subjects save love, to Phil Hazel and John Nycum so that Lyne Few and Gene Newsom can air their thoughts.

XXVI. Madeline Marshall wills to Estelle Spransey, candidate for president of the Student Council, her cloak of dignity and slippers of silence.

XXVII. Lambert Sykes bequeaths his American Beauty blushes to William Julian, to relieve the tension if anything could embarrass William.

XXVIII. Elsie Smith wills her collection of fraternity rings to the Midget Ladies' Museum to be worn on their toes if necessary to make the vast display complete.

XXIX. Helen Strother wills her complete disregard of the force of a Ford to Miss Herr who stands in awe of speed over ten miles an hour, in case of trucks.

XXX. William Troxell bequeaths his new biography of "A Real Musician I Have Admired," Wm. Powell Twaddell, to D. H. S. Library.

XXXI. Charles O'Neal leaves his unfailing willingness to oblige and to do anything at a moment's notice to James Holloway, the first, an apt pupil.

XXXII. Robert Wilson wills his courtesy and good fellowship to Cheatham Bowles as a guide book of conduct.

XXXIII. Uldine Rogers bequeaths her permanent buoyancy to Virginia Weatherspoon with the warning "Don't effervesce about John."

XXXIV. Emmett Shackelford wills his "Dodge" to the Extra Curricular Activities Maintenance Fund. The shortage in school appropriation occasioned by the enforcement of the Hancock law will thus be met.

XXXV. Jack Still wills his charming lisp to Wayne Austin to serve as a brake on the high powered machinery that operates Wayne's tongue.

XXXVI. Ina Lee Collins wills her gentleness to "Teense" Barbee with the proviso that she will not let it lessen her force on the basketball team.

XXXVII. Hugo Germino leaves his saxophone to William Julian for the purpose of dispensing soup next year, and his choicest excuse for failures in English recitations to Douglas Tew.

XXXVIII. Mary Albert Hicks bequeaths her patented style of hairdressing to Helen McDaniel to be added to her famous collection.

XXXIX. Lola Southerland, Clarine Perry, Lenna Mae Brooks, Hazel Price, and Anna Switzer will their positions as staff typists to any five girls who can decipher Leland Garrison's hieroglyphics or Nancy McDaniel's cuneiform writing.

XXXV. Sam Lindsey, the only person who lives almost independent of sleep, wills his aptitude to Juniors who need the time for study.

XXXVI. Louis Sher wills to Joe Giobbi his athletic fame if Joe doesn't mind being mistaken for his benefactor.

XXXVII. Hugh Alexander, William Coleman, and Winifred Bobbitt will their one year at D. H. S. to all newcomers, adding that if Adam spent three weeks here, Eden and Eve would be forgotten forever.

XXXVIII. The Girls' Club wills the hearts of every member to its beloved leader, Mrs. Spence. May the love therefrom prove her blessing as she has been theirs.

XXXIX. The Senior Class wills to Mr. Warren its gratitude and love for his many thoughtful expressions of interest shown to the class in its struggling efforts to lead. May we live as picturesquely in his heart as he has featured us in our year book.

XL. To the advisors, Misses Watkins, Holton, and Herr, Messrs. Holton and deBruyne, we, the members of the Senior Class, will our places and faces in each home room to be enshrined forever in the lockets of their memory.

The residue of our estate, consisting of our trials, tribulations, pains, heartaches, as well as joys and pleasures, we leave to those of the other classes whose dreams are still rosy and whose illusions are still unshattered, to cherish and share without favor or affectation.

We, the Senior Class, do hereby appoint Josephine Burke and Nancy Douglas Warren as joint executors of this document.

In witness thereof, we the testators have to this, our last will and testament set our hand and seal this seventh day of June, nineteen and twenty-nine.

SIGNED: CLASS OF 1929.

Witnessed by:

MARGARET HENRY KING

NANCY ROBERSON

ROBERT WILSON

BEVERLY ROSE, President of Class of 1929.

To Alma Mater

(Tune: Sailing)

Our service done! We've worked! We've won!
Our four years' work has earned, "Well done!"
Both clouds and sun have held their sway,
But now the sunshine floods the way,
With hearts so light, our faces, too, are bright,
With voices all we in the song unite,
Come, here is wisdom for all who will pursue
Who with thought and courage deep will stand by you.

Chorus :

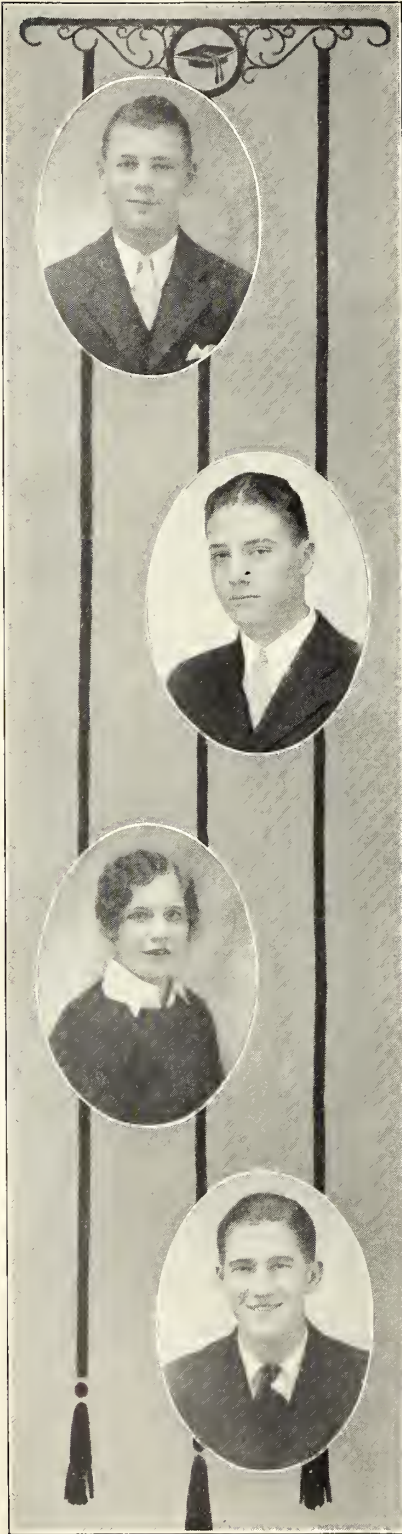

High School! High School!
Long may she reign the Queen,
For we love her well,
As our lives will tell,
We've judged her quite supreme!

We leave you now for broader fields,
To use the knowledge High School yields,
To work the harder in the strife,
To fit ourselves for later life.
We go! 'Tis true, to leave you now we grieve.
Farewell, familiar faces, walks, and scenes,
Where there is wisdom for all who would pursue,
Kind Alma Mater, here's our thanks to you!

HELEN K. CARD.

Mid-Year Class Officers

WILLIAM COLEMAN,
Vice-President

JANE BARKER,

JOHN RIGSBEE,

WILLIS ALDRIDGE

"BILL"

"A Briton even in love should be a subject, not a slave." Toms-Carfichael Literary Society 1, 2, 3, Treasurer 1; President 2; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Football 3; Stunt Cast 3.

We have visions which some day in the near future will reveal to us this second Clemenceau of rapier like wit and Herculean effort. This hero welcomes the opportunity to discuss, argue (even with a sign-post), and advise on any important question such as, whether gentlemen prefer blondes or brunettes; how it feels to be president of a literary society; and the whys and wherefores of an appendicitis operation. Such information is absolutely free of charge. Come one! Come all!

ESTELLE LA GRANGE APPERSON

"APP"

"To those who know thee not, no words can paint! And those who know thee, know all words are faint!" Commercial Club 3, 4, Secretary and Treasurer 4; Girls' Club 3, 4; Athene Literary Society 4; Messenger Staff 4; Blue Triangle 3; Athletic Association 3, 4.

Estelle's pleasant smile and friendly attitude have won her many friends in Durham High. When her brown eyes twinkle, well—there's something afoot, and we don't mean slippers! She is taking a commercial course, and when she graduates she hopes to be a competent stenographer to some financial wizard or to guard the destinies of the president.

CARLYLE CHRISTOPHER CARRINGTON

"SLEEPY"

"Oh sleep! It is a gentle thing, Beloved from pole to pole."

Monogram Club 4; Glee Club 3, 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society, Vice-president 2, Treasurer 3, Treasurer 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Dramatic Club 4; Football 4; Hi-Y 1, 2, 3; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Home Room Treasurer 4.

Carlyle has the enviable reputation of being the laziest person in the Senior Class. Of course, he has to live up to such a "rep" so he never fails to take a daily snooze while in solid geometry. However, Carlyle has proved by his good work on the gridiron that he can keep awake. In Mr. Twaddell's Glee Club Carlyle's voice rivals that of "Al Jolson" Johnson when his melodious bass is on parade.

JANE BARKER

"ZO"

"Anything but history, for history must be false."

Athene Literary Society, President, Chairman of the Constitution Committee 4; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary of the Mid-Year Class 4; Home Room Secretary and Chairman of Social Committee 4; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Dramatic Club 4; Stunt Cast 4.

Not a "Jane," but a lady, a perfect lady. One might say a lady of leisure without a care in the world, but American History prevents such a statement. Jane with her "frat" jewelry has quite taken us under the charm of Greek letters. We always thought her a modern flapper, but even flappers are changeable, so if you see an Irish lady with an "I told you so" attitude behind the footlights—well, that's still Jane.

WILLIAM CONWAY COLEMAN

"TURTLE BILL"

"Whistle and she'll come to you
Like a bolt straight from the blue."

Athletic Association 4; Midyear Class Vice-President 4; Home Room Vice-president 4.

Believe it or not, his name is Coleman! Like our idol of the screen, William has captured many feminine hearts with his dreamy eyes. Unaware of the many admiring glances which the girls cast upon him, he considers women the least of his worries. William is one of the fellows who is apparently unruffled in a crisis, who has, so far as we know, never been touched by Dan Cupid. Though he timidly evades questions concerning his ambition, we have reason to believe that he secretly "Fosters" the hope of becoming an aviator.

NANCY HALL

"Let each one sing his love, for song shall banish care." Girls' Club 3, 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Athletic Association 4.

Here's another Marian Talley, and at the rate she's going, it won't be long before we will be buying tickets to hear the Metropolitan Opera star. Nancy hasn't been with us all the time, but she has made many friends, all of whom are glad that they have known her. She's as busy as a bee, even when riding around in her gray Packard—because, well that's still business.

CLYDE DUNNEGAN

"PREACHER"

*"We grant that he had much wit
And was not shy of using it"*

French Club 4; Track Team 2, 4.

A rare product, indeed, is Clyde. He goes around with his face beaming all the time, even when there's nothing at all to smile about. He has shown such remarkable ability for pronouncing French that we predict he will sometime be an interpreter for the Ambassador from France to America. He says he does not like girls, but—who cares whether he does or not so long as he finds them good pals all the way?

GRACE ILER

"TID-BIT"

"Friendship is love without his wings."

Girls' Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Stunt Night 4.

Grace's sweet disposition, friendly manner, and winning smile have won many friends, during her short stay in Durham High. She's full of life, but knows when and how to work. Peace and happiness in a cozy cottage amid sunshine and flowers are in her horoscope.

CHARLES CLAIBORNE HURST

"ZELLY"

"He is the best of friends, the same today and forever"
Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Track 4; Orchestra 4; Band 3, 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 3, 4; Boy Scouts 1, 2, 3; Activity Stunt 3, 4; Wrestling 4.

Claiborne is one of our "band boys" who daily does his good turn. Though small in stature, there's nothing small about the scope of his activities since he runs around with the track team, wrestles with the wrestling squad, and plays with the orchestra. When he toots his horn it's because Mr. Twaddell tells him to, but when he blows his trumpet, even Gabriel himself turns green with jealousy.

ETHEL JOSEPHINE LA PRADE

"JO"

*"God sent his musicians on this earth
With songs of sadness and of mirth"*

Girls' Club 3, 4; Orchestra 3; Girls' Glee Club 3; Dramatic Club 3; Secretary Mid-Year Class 4; Cornelia Spencer Literary Society 3, 4.

She plays a saxophone. So that's my weakness now! If Jo read the ad, "Play a Sax and Become Popular," she certainly put it to a good advantage. But that is not all Jo can do—she can study the three R's all morning, teach music all afternoon, and have energy enough to get back to school again the next day. Probably the reason why she can accomplish so much (and do it well too) is that she is inspired and encouraged by a shy spirit. Page Harry, and let us catch a glimpse of this rare soul.

FRANK ROBESON ILER

"KAYO"

"It was a saying of his that education was an ornament in prosperity, and a refuge in necessity"
Athletic Association 4; Commercial Club 4.

Early in the year Miss Herr decided Frank's smile would pass, but his handwriting made him worthy of a second glance. It takes two or three glances to decipher "Ilerish" hieroglyphics. However, due to constant practice, he has greatly improved in this respect, and now when a translation accompanies all his themes, we can read them with only a little difficulty.

In Ovid, Frank "stooped to be conquered," but what's a little thing like that between friends? Anyway, we won't hold that against him because not even the best of us can conquer alone.

SADIE LEVIN

*"To say why gals act so or so,
Or don't, 'ould be persumin',
Mebby to say 'yes' and not 'no'
Comes natural to women."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club 3, 4.

We wonder how Miss Solloway will ever "carry on" without Sadie, as important as keys on the typewriter. Sadie has never learned to say "no" when she is called upon to do a good turn. She's always ready, a truly "ready ledly." At the rate she's going, we see her as Mr. Ford's private secretary in the near future.

EDWARD LOVEILLE KERSEY

"COUNT"

"Whose wit in the combat is gentle as bright Ne'er carried a heart stain away on its blade."

Page Literary Society 4; Activity Stunt 4; Athletic Association 4.

"Count" Kersey, even after meeting his Waterloo, English VI, is still jolly and optimistic. He has great prospects as a cartoonist, the proof of which can be seen on the black boards of Room 110 after each lunch period. The "Count" will probably come sailing into the Harbor of Graduation on one of his 1930 model ships. His spirit is an inspiration even to those who do not wear the honorable title Miss Herr gave him because she's still counting on him.

MARGARET ZELENE MAYNARD

"MARGOT"

*"She is pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with,
And pleasant, too, to think on."*

Lila Brogden Literary Society 3, 4, Treasurer 4; Stunt Cast 3; Glee Club 3; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; Blue Triangle 3; Athletic Association 4; Home Room Officer, President 4.

Margaret has dignity, poise, and an abundance of musical ability. She does a good bit of thinking for herself and is always willing to help think for someone else. She is pensive sometimes, but her daily life demonstrates her fine philosophy. We dare not peep into her future, but we hope her—well, that is, to say, because she blushes when we suggest it.

JOHN RUBLE LOVE, JR.

"JACK"

*"Of manners gentle, of affections mild,
In wit a man, simplicity a child."*

Athletic Association 3, 4; Track 3, 4, Manager 3, 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Hi-Y Club 4; Stunt Cast 4; Band 3.

Jack really doesn't mind if you call him "little"; that is, if you say it with a grain of salt and think of Jeff; but it does make him boil to ask him if he has his French, or to suggest that he is charity in disguise. Well, maybe Jack is small and "lovely" but he is versatile enough to be a dignified youth one minute and a cunning little flower girl the next.

MILDRED BRIDGERS MITCHELL

"SKINNY"

"Simplicity of character is no hindrance to ability of intellect."

Athletic Association 4; Mandoline Club 4; Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Commercial Club 4; Girls' Club 4.

Mildred is the jolly, care-free type and has a keen sense of humor. She is very fond of athletics. She also likes to roam over glen and dale; no, with Glenn, I'm sorry, a mere confusion of prepositions. That's all right whichever it is! Mildred is a good sport although she is frequently up to mischief.

WALTER RELFE NEWBERN

*"On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined
To chase the glowing hours with flying feet."*

Hi-Y Club 4; Athletic Association 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Stunt Cast 4; Home Room Officer, Treasurer 4; Marshall 4.

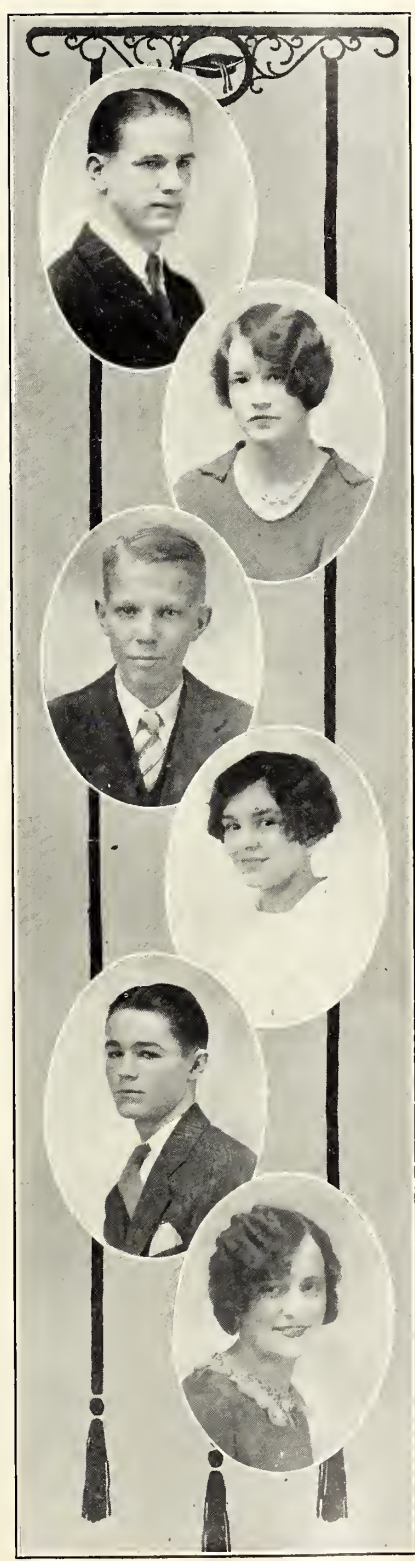

This little lamb is searching for a sheepskin to wrap his brilliant future in. As the Eddie Guest of Durham, he writes his verse, sets it to music and interprets his ideas by dancing lightly or heavily depending on the agility of his partner. His favorite theme is "Duck Hunting" but we are sure that he is really more interested in dear hunting though he has bagged no game as yet. Eddie Cantor's understudy may yet put the matinee idol on the shelf.

ELSIE MAE OAKLEY

*"Today, whatever may annoy
The world for me is Joy, just simply Joy."*

Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4; May Day Festival 2, 3; Commercial Club 2, 3, 4.

Elsie goes so silently about her business that one is almost tempted to overlook her; but, really, you can't because she has a smile that "gets" you. (It seems to have some people completely.) This fact, and others, lead us to believe that when she crashes into the business world, as she plans to do, she'll be a second Tillie Jones.

JOHN UNDERRWOD RIGSBEE

"I am, Sir Oracle, and when I ope my lips, let no dog bark."

Messenger Staff 4; Business Staff 4; Toms-Carmichael Literary Society 2, 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Football 3, 4; Track 4; Commercial Club 4; Orchestra 3, 4; Hi-Y 2; Athletic Association 2, 3; Home Room Officer, President 4; Mid-year Class 4, Treasurer.

John is quite a man of affairs—love affairs! He's just a regular shiek! When he comes down the hall all of the poor, little feminine hearts turn a flip. John rivals "Sleepy" Carrington for being lazy, but really he can accomplish things when he tries. Talk about playing a saxophone—he can make one groan for mercy.

HELEN STROTHER

*"We see her charming, but we see not half
The charm her downcast modesty concealed."*

Lila Brogden Literary Society 4; Dramatic Club 4; Girls' Club 4; Blue Triangle 4.

Helen seems to be born for regal circles for her brunette beauty graced Queen Elizabeth's court this year. Besides her beauty, she has the true patrician graciousness and charm. And strange to say she seems to have an uncanny power for attracting rushing trucks. In spite of her many handicaps, she has found time to make a lasting impression on Durham High.

JOHN TAYLOR STILL

"JACK"

"Nature hath framed stranger fellows in her time."

Mid-Year Class, President 4; Walter Hines Page Literary Society 4; Messenger Staff 4; Business Manager 4; Hi-Rocket Staff 2; Athletic Association 1, 2, 3, 4; Stunt Cast 3, 4; Dramatic Club 4; Edison Science Club 3, 4; Hi-Y 2, 3, 4; Home Room Officer, Vice-president 4.

It must be a grand and glorious feeling to know that one is popular, but it's greater still to keep it to one's self. And so we can all sympathize with the modest young man who calls himself Jack Still. Jack is a man after George Washington's own heart, insofar as he never told a lie (or if he did, it was just a little white one) and he is usually first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his sweethearts—oh! pardon, please—we didn't mean that at all. Jack isn't the type that will "try to get by"? And how!

NANCY WOODS

"Brown eyes that sparkle."

Athena Literary Society 4; Commercial Club 3; Athletic Association 2, 3; Girls' Club 1, 2, 3, 4.

Nancy is quiet, but not too quiet, and when there is some mischief afoot, one usually finds her adorable brown curls bobbing up accompanied by her mischievous, though inquisitive brown eyes. Nancy is not overly fond of studying, but usually is able to tease passing grades from the teachers.

Student Government

STUDENT GOVERNMENT in Durham High School has long been an unrealized dream. The faculty leaders have found the students unprepared as yet for so large a responsibility; but to the satisfaction of the entire student body, the first step toward realizing the dream of limited government by the students was taken in January, 1929. At this time Nancy Roberson, a senior, a worthy leader, was elected president of the student body by popular vote. Nat Gregory, another capable senior, was elected vice-president.

Since their election the heads have been earnest and helpful in everything they have been called upon to do, and have made several suggestions for school projects. They have attempted to increase school spirit and foster self-reliance among the students.

The members of the student body of Durham High School have shown that they are able to elect excellent leaders; and to the delight of the faculty they are becoming more and more independent and capable each year. The first milestone toward self-government has been passed. It remains for the succeeding classes to reach the final goal—that of emphasizing true coöperation with all school projects and living together in school, in such a way as to build good citizens for our community.

The Post Graduates

The Post Graduate Class has enrolled for the present school year twenty members. Out of this number three have come to us from schools outside of Durham, and the remainder from the various high schools of the city.

At the beginning of the year, the class under the leadership of its adviser, Miss Ethel M. Solloway, elected the following officers: President, Evelyn Vickers; Secretary, Mary Lee Billings; and Treasurer, Anna R. Miller. These girls have given unstinted time and untiring effort to the activities of the class, and have been instrumental in promoting a spirit of co-operation and loyalty among their classmates.

During the year our class has displayed a fine spirit of loyalty in the school activities, especially in the work of the Commercial Club. In December the Coroso Players presented the "Gypsy Trail," and several members of the class took part in the presentation of this entertainment; namely, Dahlia Scoggins, Anna Miller, Catherine Crabtree Scott, and Gertie Mathes Markham.

The class was well represented in the group of students who competed for and won honors in the District and State Contests in shorthand and typing. On April 20, the following Post Graduates went to Raleigh to enter the District Contest: Catherine Crabtree Scott, Anna R. Miller, Evelyn Vickers, and Dahlia Scoggins. These girls made a very fine record in beginning shorthand, winning first place in the District Contest. The following girls represented our class in first year typewriting: Evelyn Vickers, Foy Wilson, and Dahlia Scoggins. Dahlia Scoggins won the honor of being the fastest first year typist in the District Contest, writing at an average of fifty words a minute. On May 4 at the State Commercial Contest held in Chapel Hill, N. C., the first year shorthand team again succeeded in winning first place, for which it received ten dollars in gold. Anna R. Miller received the gold medal offered for the most accurate transcript handed in by a first year shorthand student, making the excellent grade of 99 44/100 per cent.

The class has experienced a most interesting year—a year of hard work and accomplishment. We have learned to write shorthand at the rate of one hundred words per minute, and to type at an average of forty words per minute. We have studied Accounting and Business Principles in our Bookkeeping, and forms of business correspondence in Secretarial Studies.

When the year ends, we hope to be able to go out in the world, well prepared to meet the demands of modern business. The class wishes to express its sincere and heartfelt gratitude to the officials of the high school, to its commercial teachers, Miss Mary Holland and Miss Amanda Gordon, and especially to its adviser, Miss Ethel M. Solloway, whose faithful work and unceasing devotion in behalf of each student has endeared her to the entire class.

The Co-operative Class

The Co-operative Class, organized in the Durham High School in 1921 for the benefit of the boy who has to work part-time in order to come to school, has again surpassed its past records of enrollment. In many ways this class, which offers a boy the chance to continue his high school career to graduation even though he cannot attend school all day, has excelled this year.

Again did the Co-ops join hands with the Commercial Club in presenting "Wallace, the Magician" to the school. Part of the proceeds of this entertainment were given to the school improvement fund.

The Coroso players presented "The Gypsy Trail" as their offering for this school year. The Co-ops taking part in this were Haywood Rogers, who carried the leading role; John Beeker, Johnnie Blalock, Aubrey Cheek, and Ben Woodall. Two performances of this play were given.

The Co-ops try to help school projects whenever possible. This year one of the most urgent needs was the raising of sufficient funds to enable the music department to send representatives to Asheville to participate in the southern music conference. To help raise the funds needed the Co-operative Class gave a minstrel skit, "The Great Turkey-Stealing Case of Watermelon County," the proceeds of which were given to the music department.

Three social events have taken much of the time and effort of the Co-ops this year; first, the camp supper and initiation of new members at Camp Sacarusa; second, a Christmas supper meeting in the High School Cafeteria; and third, the spring social, the scene of which was Camp Hollow Rock. All of these events were enjoyed thoroughly by every one present.

Junior Class History

Should the Junior Class of Durham High School assemble in full regalia, there is no doubt that it would be not only the most influential body that has ever stood on "terra firma," but also the most unique. Its resources are endless; its knowledge, unexcelled.

From the athletic standpoint, the Junior Class has furnished many ranking athletes in the various lines of sporting activity. The class has been favorably represented on the gridiron by James Holloway and Roy Phipps; on the basketball court by Joe Giobbi; on the mat by Haywood Latta and James Fortune; on the tennis court by Lyne Few, John Nycum, and Claiborne Gregory; on the cinders by Raymond Webster and Eugene Newsom; on the links by Bob Taggart; and on the diamond by Hyman Dave and Fred Lloyd. This is a record of which any class can boast unchallenged.

In the literary field, the class has had excellent representation. John Bird and Claiborne Gregory have attained much success in the forensic line, while Peggy Strowd has long been successful in capturing honors in recitation contests. James Newsom and Harry Carr are budding geniuses on the Hi-Rocket staff; while Lyne Few, Lola Marler Rogers, Dorothy Umstead, and Katherine Brooks have secured permanent positions on the honor roll.

The artistic talent of this group is very pronounced. Nell Atwater in drawing, and Dahlia Guthrie in music are notable examples.

Taking all this into consideration, does not the Junior Class uphold exceedingly well its motto: "There is no such word as fail"?

The Sophomore Class

The Class of '31 began its second quarter of the race towards graduation in the fall of 1928 after completing the first quarter in June of the same year. They chose as officers: President, Allen Barbce; Vice-President, Charles Rogers; Secretary, Nellie Bishop; Treasurer, Laura Preddy. It was with deep regret that we lost Allen and Charles. However, in 1929 Dan Edwards and John Gresham were elected to take their places.

At the beginning of the second semester a few members were lost due to promotion. Those who were taking four years work in three left our ranks to become Juniors. There are now one hundred and eighty members in our class.

We are not ashamed of our record in scholarship. We have had three names on the honor roll list almost every six weeks. They are: Lola Marler Rogers, who is now a Junior, Nellie Bishop, and Fred Wolfe. We challenge any class to better this record.

The Sophomores have names in the athletic hall of fame. J. B. Johns was captain of the baseball team; Everett Bugg was manager of the wrestling team of which Jack Ervin, Dan Edwards, James Mann, Kearn Ormond, and J. B. Cook were members. Dan Edwards was chosen captain of next year's team. Herbert Carlton was on the varsity football team, and the All-State High School team.

Dear fellow classmates, the journey's half ended
Which we began two years ago.
The road ahead looked long and rugged
And our progress, Oh, so slow:
But our aims were high and noble
And we buckled to the task.
As we knew though hard the labor
Bright would be our goal at last.
We were faced with many trials,
But we smiled and did our best;
And our feet were always guided
By the far-off goal, Success.

The Freshman Class History

Gathered here from the four corners of the earth, two hundred beautifully green youngsters began their career in the Durham Central High School on September 1, 1928. Being the kind of boys and girls they are, they soon learned not to change classes on two bells, or to line up for fire drills on three. They became accustomed, in some degree, to the rules and habits of High School life, but their greenness was forever breaking out in new places. At the first class meeting Norman Livengood was elected president; Frank Satterfield, vice-president; John Satterfield, secretary; and Ben Skinner, treasurer. Here they did show judgment.

The freshmen eagerly subscribed to the Hi-Rocket, and also responded to the "Messenger" call. Early in February the Class of '32 made its debut at a Valentine party, the first of its kind ever held in D. H. S. by a freshman class. With the aid of our student body president, the social was a huge success. These freshmen played a hard winning game; calling time out only for "flu," Christmas and Easter. Because the freshmen had never stood High School exams, they could not be frightened by the talk of the upper classmen. They stood the first siege with remarkable bravery, and most of them came out on top. Experience taught its lesson, and in May no freshman could be found wandering around with nothing to do. They won out in the last storm, and calmly awaited the distribution of reports. On June 7, the freshmen relinquish their epithet, and will begin looking forward to their sophomore year in Durham High School.

In Appreciation

The work of presenting to the public this, "The Messenger," a mirror of the activities representative of a high school with so many phases for the development of its student body as Durham High has, is a task that has required the co-operation of the entire school.

The Messenger Staff has been faithful and diligent in their contribution of thought, time, and energy for the work.

Without the guidance of experience which the faculty offered in various phases of the work, and the compilation as a whole, the staff might never have realized its class project. To each of these we give our thanks and sincere appreciation of effort in our behalf.

Mr. Warren guided the publication of the Messenger with valuable advice, and gave unrestrictedly of time and experience in planning and taking the excellent pictures of school life herein displayed.

Miss Herr lent her time and guidance to the editing of the work.

Mrs. Plunkett gave much thought and assistance with her classes to the artistic background of cuts designed to make our book attractive.

Mr. Fanning, who effectively planned the financial bases for procedure, has made himself our debtor in this business venture.

We leave this book, our expression of school life in 1929 in Durham High to you, dear reader! May you enjoy its perusal as we have enjoyed our days in high school.

Faithfully yours,

THE EDITORS.

The Hi Rocket

Among the unsung heroes at Durham High School, there is a group of sixty wide-awake students, whose duty and pleasure it is to portray the policies and ideals of the school, and to note the activities and achievements of the student body. The Hi-Rocket Staff, since publishing its first issue in 1920, has been a vital factor in high school life.

The excellence of the work of the group with Marjorie Glasson, editor-in-chief, was verified when the Columbia Scholastic Press Association gave the Hi-Rocket a gold medal for winning a second place in Class B in the National Contest this year. The newspaper was entered at the Convention in New York City by William O'Brien, business manager, who was sent by the staff to represent the Hi-Rocket.

The organization this year has been successfully working with a managing editor, Frank Moore, to publish the copy and with a business manager, William O'Brien, to finance the issues, and circulation manager, Beverly Rose, to distribute them. Directly responsible to the editor-in-chief are the literary-general, Marion McCracken, and the news-general, Emmett Shackelford, who in turn direct the work of the other members. The apprentice editor-in-chief has to serve in every capacity. Members are selected for their scholarship, for their natural aptitude for work, and for their character. The faculty advisers serve as guides in the work, but it is upon the initiative, pluck, and native ability of the staff member that the success of the publication finally rests.

The Hi-Rocket is the voice of the student body but it also accomplishes other aims. It trains students to learn how to follow directions, how to lead with power, how to bear responsibility, and how to co-operate for service.

The faculty advisers are: Literary—Miss Marguerite M. Herr, Miss Kathryn Dorsett, Miss Isabel Arrowood, Miss Wyoline Hanson, and Mr. Samuel B. Hayes; Art—Mrs. Cora G. Plunkett; Business—Mr. B. L. DeBruyne; Printing—Mr. C. L. Gilliatt.

Extra-Curricular Activities

The program of development in Durham High School consists of a regular curriculum in each of five courses—the classical, the scientific, the commercial, the home economics, and the industrial arts—which if followed will lead to graduation. Each student regularly enrolls in that course best fitted to help him realize his ambition in life. There is also offered to all interested and especially talented pupils another avenue for self-development. This is an optional course of extra-curricular activities from which students may select one or more in which to work. In this manner, leisure time may be spent with profit and pleasure, and talent may be discovered.

The time given to these organizations varies from a meeting a week to one a month. Night meetings are allowed only with permission of the parents of students, when no other time can be agreed upon or when more time is needed for project work. The leaders are faculty members who are interested in the special activity and willing to help youth find itself. The program followed supplements the work of the class room or opens the way to some new field not offered in the regular curriculum but worthy of attention in itself.

The oldest type of activity is the literary society work. The Blackwell for boys, founded in 1905, was followed by the Cornelia Spencer for girls a few years later. These have been supplemented by seven others organized when Mr. Warren first came to Durham High. In these are enrolled students who are interested in public speaking in all phases.

For encouraging those interested in creative writing in literary or journalistic lines, the Messenger, the annual year book and the Hi-Rocket, the school newspaper were added to the activities.

Supplementing the music courses offered, are such organizations as: the band, the orchestra, the glee clubs for boys and girls, the choral clubs for mixed voices and the children's choir, which prepares for choir work.

To help build higher ideals of girlhood in our school and incidentally to create leadership among the women of tomorrow, the Girls' Club is conducted, by the adviser of girls.

Students who have histrionic taste or ability, identify themselves with the Dramatic Club, to receive training in the line.

Out of a desire to know more about some interesting phase of the work carried on in the science classes, the Edison Science Club was formed.

The latest addition to these activities is the French Club, also formed to give opportunity for further study and practice in the use of that language.

To create an interest in the program of character building conducted by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. in the interests of the youth of Durham, the Blue Triangle and the Hi-Y clubs have been formed. Those interested in social service may be found in either of these clubs.

The athletic activities are so numerous that these are listed under a special head. Opportunity for physical development and the use of leisure time is given in the following activities offered in season: football, basket ball, baseball, tennis, swimming, track, hockey, golf, and wrestling. Those boys who have earned letters have formed a Monogram Club to maintain high ideals in the conduct of all sports and to improve the scholarship of those who wish to participate.

For those students taking commercial courses, there is the Commercial Club for junior and senior students, each meeting twice a month.

The part-time students have a special group called the Co-operative Class with monthly meetings for business and pleasure.

From these two organizations the Coroso Players, a dramatic club, grew which aimed to foster dramatic talent and help in the project of beautifying Durham High.

This year the Home Room group activity was featured in order to unify all activities in the one great building program. Each group worked out a special project promoting the interests of each student.

From the testimony of pupils themselves, from the interest accomplished in the work, and from the growth in power, service, and ideals, apparent in those who participate, it is evident that extra-curricular activities have a definite place in all round development of high school boys and girls.

Since the home can no longer offer the activities it once did, for the youth of our land "to learn by doing," the schools in which children spend two-thirds of their waking hours have had to provide other avenues for growth called "extra-curricular activities."

The Blackwell Literary Society

Organized: 1905

Motto: Faciendo facere discimus

Adviser: Mr. Quinton Holton

The Blackwell Literary Society was organized in 1905 and is the oldest organization in the school.

As usual, this year the Blackwell Society took an active part in school activities and inter-selections, impromptu talks, and critic's reports. Equal emphasis is placed on parliamentary preliminary contests David Jaffe won the honor of representing Durham High at Duke, Wake Forest, and Guilford College, winning second place at Duke and the silver medal at Wake Forest.

The weekly programs of the society consist of declamations, lectures, debates, humorous selections, impromptu talks, and critic reports. Equal emphasis is placed on parliamentary procedure in the conduct of general business by the society.

The officers of the society in the school year 1928-29 were:

	First Term	Second Term	Third Term
President	Nathaniel Gregory	David Jaffe	Nathaniel Gregory
Vice-President	Hughy Alexander	Nathaniel Gregory	David Jaffe
Treasurer	David Jaffe	Jones Pollard	Jones Pollard

Cornelia Spencer Literary Society

Faculty Adviser: Miss Lelia Hampton

Motto: "All things excellent are as difficult as they are rare."

Colors: Maroon and Old Gold

The Cornelia Spencer Literary Society, the oldest girls' organization in the High School, holds an important place among student activities. The purpose of this society is to further scholarship, to sponsor public speaking, and to make worthwhile citizens of its members. Throughout the present year the aim of the girls of this society has been to uphold the traditions of the past for excellence in all undertakings.

Each year an extensive debating contest is held, and the winner of this contest receives at commencement the Ethel Gladstone medal, the only medal in the school given to girls for debating. On Award Day a medal is given for the best all-round work done in the society during the year. For a number of years Cornelia Spencer representatives have made enviable records in the recitation contest sponsored by the Woman's Club as well as in the annual Guilford College Contest, the latter having been won this year by Helen Card.

A Hallowe'en Party was given at the Y. W. C. A. in the fall, and a skit, "Lima Beans," was presented at the annual Activities Night.

The officers for the present year have been:

First Term	Officers	Second Term

Walter Hines Page Literary Society

Motto: "Let knowledge grow; let life be enriched"

Adviser: Miss Marguerite M. Herr

Since the date of its founding, October 20, 1926, the Walter Hines Page Literary Society has held a high place among the progressive organizations of the Durham High School, and a dear place in the hearts of its members. The aim has been to develop friendship and good citizenship ideals among the boys and to train them in the speech arts.

This year, in addition to the regular work and at the request of the members, Miss Herr, the adviser, has taught a special group, which meets two nights a month, in poise, voice control, and good habits of speech.

The society has showed a decided advancement in its work. The program outlined was followed; the society was represented by Sam Margolis in the declamation contest; it offered "A Pipe Dream" as its contribution to the Activities Night program; and it closed the season with a banquet at the home of President John Smith.

The officers for the year were as follows:

First Half	Officers	Second Half

The James H. Southgate Literary Society

Motto: "Qui Non Proficit Deficit"

Faculty Adviser: Miss Belle Hampton

Although the James H. Southgate Literary Society has been organized only three years, it has grown considerably, both in numbers and in value, and every member feels that she has gained something worthwhile from this year's work. One thing, especially, which has proved a means of arousing interest and securing better work in the society, has been the adoption of a point system. This has given its members a goal to strive toward; and awards, consisting of the letter "S" to be attached to the society pin by means of a chain, will be given to those who make the required number of points during the year.

The programs this year have been intensely interesting, consisting chiefly of debates, recitations, short dramatizations, reports on worthwhile books, and helps on parliamentary procedure. The society presented "Faculty Flashlights" on Activities Night program.

The officers for the year 1928-29 were:

First Term	Officers	Second Term

The Toms-Carmichael Literary Society

Organized: 1926

Adviser: Mr. F. Devoe Fanning

Purpose: To strive for good fellowship rather than for honors

The Toms-Carmichael Literary Society was organized in Central High for the purpose of improving public speaking and developing the students into worthwhile citizens. This society was named for two well-known citizens of Durham, C. W. Toms and W. D. Carmichael, former superintendents of the Durham City Schools.

The bi-monthly programs are composed of discussions on topics of educational value, debates, and extemporaneous talks. Musical selections and jokes add spice to these programs. At present the society is at work on a project for the promotion of intramural athletics for boys. The parody of "The Shooting of Dan McGrew" was successfully presented on Activities Night by the members.

The O. Henry Literary Society

Motto: "We go to seek on many roads."
Adviser: Miss Aura Holton

The O. Henry Literary Society was named for the well-known North Carolinian short story writer, who was born at Greensboro, North Carolina. Its purpose is to develop the art of public speaking, and to encourage the reading of better books.

The society joined the national "Book-of-the-Month-Club," and besides poems and recitations, its programs consisted of a monthly review of the book which was selected and forwarded by the club. In this way the club members were taught the essentials of reviewing a book. The new members were initiated at Camp Hollow Rock in April. It can be truthfully stated that each member has striven to do her best to make the society one of outstanding merit. "The Doll Show" on Activities Night which won fourth place was presented by the members.

Athena Literary Society

Organized: 1928

Motto: "Hodie, non cras"

Adviser: Miss Kathryn Dorsett

The Athena Literary Society was organized October 5, 1928, to further the interest in literary work. It is the youngest society in the school, with thirty-four charter members. The membership has increased until it is a band forty-five strong working as one toward its goal which is best expressed in its motto, "Today, not tomorrow."

Although it is an infant society of the school, it has done well during the scholastic year. Outside of the regular programs the society took part in the school activities. It was represented in the declamation contest by Esther Zuckerman and took part in the annual stunt night program, presenting "Athena's Gifts to Her Daughters."

Le Cercle Francais

Advisers: Miss Weston, Mrs. Preston

An honorary French Club was organized in Central High this year for the purpose of promoting the interest in practical French. Only those students who had an average of 90% on at least one-half year of French were invited to join. Because of this requirement the club was small, but we feel that the members have derived much benefit from the work.

The regular bi-monthly "seances" were conducted entirely in French. The programs consisted of games, contests, readings, and discussions; special programs which corresponded to the season were frequently used.

Since the infant organization was such an up-and-going youngster it was allowed to participate in the annual Activities Night with "Antony and Cleopatra" as a clever offering.

The Lila Markham Brogden Literary Society

Motto: "Veritas te liberabit"

Adviser: Miss Louise T. Watkins

Here's to thee, O Lila Brogden!
Here's to thee, our own!
In our hearts above all others
Here you stand alone.
How we love your noble standards!
Loud your praise we sing,
Society of friends and comrades,
Hear our voices ring.

MARJORIE GLASSON.

The Lila Markham Brogden Literary Society was named for Mrs. Lila Markham Brogden, a former faculty member of the Durham High School who has become famous throughout the State of North Carolina for her excellent work in the State Federation of Woman's Clubs. It was because of the services Mrs. Brogden rendered to Durham High School and the fine example of womanhood she sets for the girls of Durham that her name was chosen for this group of girls. Mrs. Brogden gave us for our motto the one which she uses in her own life: "The truth will set you free."

From the beginning of its existence this society has taken an active part in the school life. Every year we have been represented in the recitation and debating contests by capable and well-trained members. The society has participated in each annual Activities Night, presenting this year a skit entitled "A Spanish Romance." The custom of entertaining the new members at the beginning of the year with a picnic, and the senior members at the close of the year with a banquet, was followed.

The regular bi-monthly meetings have included business sessions and programs. The programs have included recitations, book-reviews, lectures, debates, and musical selections. In order to obtain a greater variety in the programs and in order to give more girls a greater opportunity for training themselves in leadership, the program committee is appointed at each meeting for the succeeding meeting.

A string club was organized under the direction of Nancy Roberson to furnish music at the regular meetings. This club has furnished music for other entertainments, besides regularly functioning for the society. Kappy Roberson assumed the chairmanship of this club later in the year. Those who composed this string club were: Dorothy Newsom and Kappy Roberson who played guitars; Tempe Newsom and Marjorie Glasson who played mandolins; Margaret Henry King, Rachel Sigley, Mildred Mitchell, and Nancy Roberson who played ukuleles.

The Hi-Y Club

Advisers: A. E. Jenny, W. F. Warren

The Central Hi-Y Club is a part of the world-wide fellowship of Young Men's Christian Association, organized in over fifty countries and numbering two million and more members and associates.

The Hi-Y Club of Central High was the first organized in North Carolina, chartered in 1918. It has been an active group ever since, devoting the greater part of its time to the betterment of school and community life.

Throughout the year the club has held its weekly supper meetings at the "Y" building, on Tuesdays, from 6:15 to 7:45. Ladies from eleven different churches of the city have prepared and served the suppers. At each meeting the club has had very interesting programs. Sometimes a well-known speaker of the city, or elsewhere, would address the members on some topic of interest to them. At other times the club itself would discuss certain topics brought up by the members. Messrs. A. E. Jenny and W. F. Warren have continued to serve as "pals" and advisers.

The officers of the club are:

The Edison Science Club

Organized: 1928

Motto: "He can who thinks he can"

Advisor: Mr. S. S. Jenkins

The purpose of the Edison Science Club, as stated in the constitution, is to foster interest in scientific things by experiment.

It is the usual procedure of the club to have members read papers on one subject connected with science at each meeting, and to follow this by an experiment along the same line; then, too, outside speakers have given interesting lectures, and several field trips have been made.

The club has also taken over as a project the presentation of free motion-pictures in the auditorium. Robert Atwood and Clarence Shuford operate this machine providing amusement for the students. "Shadowgraphs" was the club's offering on Activities Night.

The Blue Triangle Club

Organized : 1920

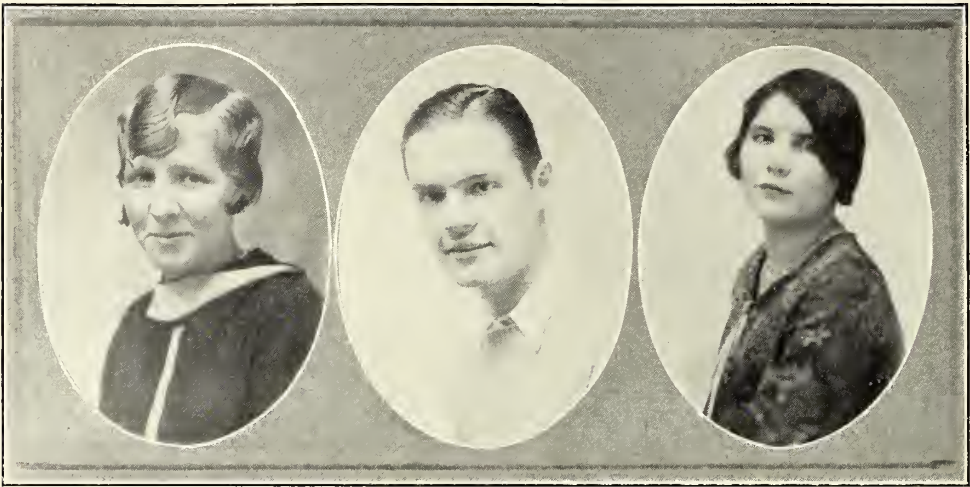

Advisers: Mrs. Belle C. Gholson, Miss Lyda Bishop, Miss Eura Strother

The Blue Triangle is a part of the Girl Reserves which is the girls' division of the Y. W. C. A. There are more than two hundred thousand Girl Reserves in the United States who try "to face life squarely." The three sides of the triangle represent the mind, the spirit, and the body. The attempt has been made to enrich the lives of the girls by developing these three sides.

The social activities of the Blue Triangle have been club suppers, parties, hikes, special interest group meetings. The usual custom of sending Christmas gifts to the Indian children was followed. The Easter sunrise service on Duke University Campus was one of the most impressive programs of the year. Plans have been made to send delegates to the Southern Girl Reserves' Conference at Brevard, N. C.

The Commercial Club

Motto: "He can who thinks he can"

Colors: Rose and white

The Commercial Club was composed of the Girls' Senior Unit, consisting of girls from the junior and senior classes, with Miss Solloway as adviser; Boy's Senior Unit, made up of boys from the two upper classes, with Miss Martin as adviser; and the Junior Unit, composed of both boys and girls from the freshman and sophomore classes, with Misses Gordon and Holland as advisers.

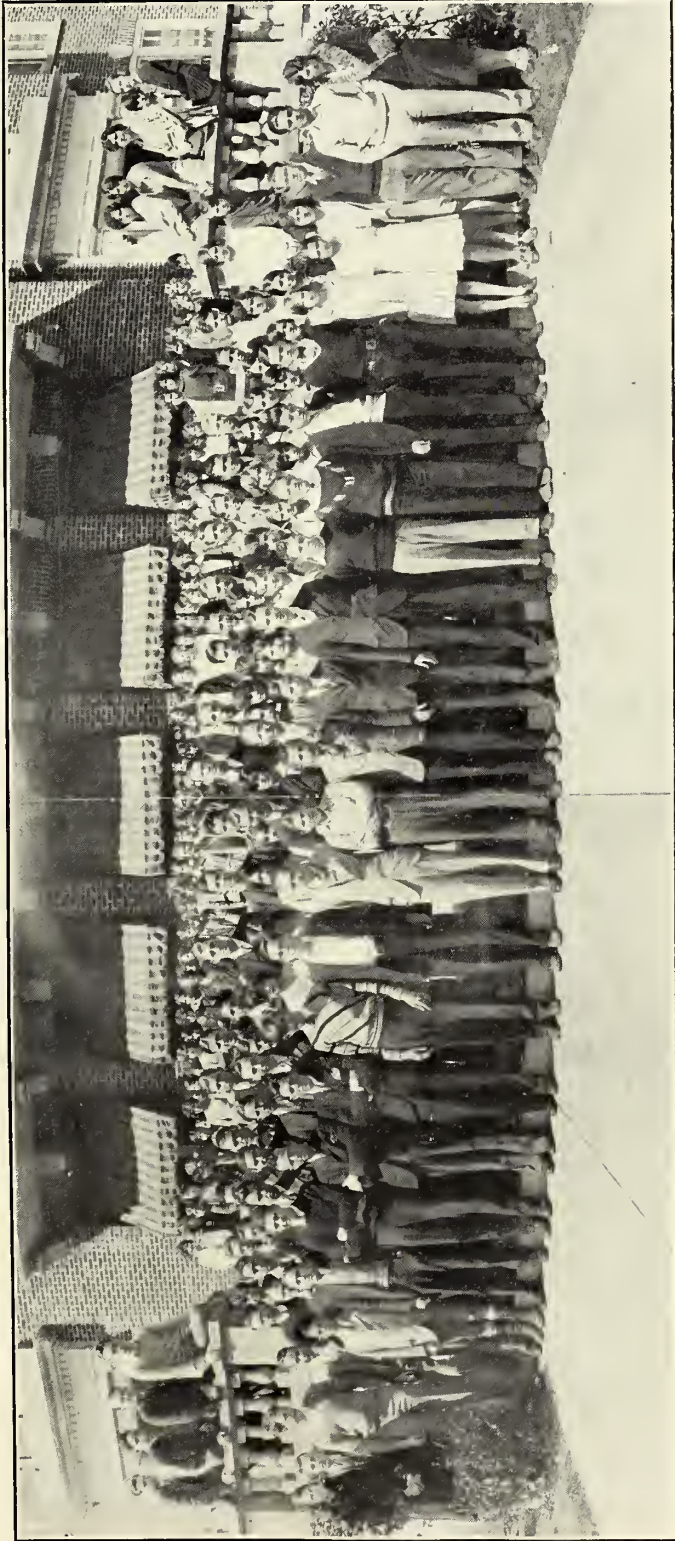

The club worked with the Co-operative Class in producing "The Gypsy Trail," under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Card. The following girls from the club composed the cast: Margaret Naegle, '28, Lenna Mae Brooks, Dahlia Scoggins, and Elizabeth Moseley.

In the district contest at Raleigh, Durham led in first and second year shorthand and in Class A typewriting tests. In the state-wide final contest held in Chapel Hill, the team won first place in first-year shorthand contest. The second-year shorthand group won second place; the first year typewriting team, third place in the state contest. Anna Miller won the gold medal offered to the champion shorthand writer in beginners' shorthand, and $10 in gold offered by the Durham Loan & Trust Company.

This year the club purchased "The Horse Fair," "The Scout," and "The Appeal to the Great Spirit," a rug for the office of the commercial department, and a posture chair.

The social activities were centered around the sixth annual banquet which was held in the High School cafeteria.

THE COMMERCIAL CLUB

The Dramatic Club

Advisers: Miss Aura Holton, Mrs. E. M. Preston

Membership: 90

Since its organization the Dramatic Club has been one of the largest and most active organizations in Central High. Its purpose is to promote the dramatic interests of the students by increasing their dramatic ability. In past years the club has participated in the state dramatic contests, winning honors wherever it went. This year, however, it was decided to drop out of the state contest in order to give the students more opportunity for participation in plays by presenting a one act play each month.

The first presentation of the year 1928-29 was the three-act comedy, "Mr. Pim Passes By," by A. A. Milne. During the spring semester, two one-act plays were presented: "The Trysting Place" and "Spreading the News." "The Trysting Place" was repeated at the Monarchs' entertainment for the benefit of the Children's Choir.

The Dramatic Club held a picnic at Camp Hollow Rock on April 5, in honor of the new members. A skit entitled "The Silent Movie" was presented at the annual Activities' Stunt Night.

The chairmen of the standing committees are:

Publicity	Felton Hayes
Costume	Frances Council
Make-up	Nell Page Atwater
Scenery	Hoyle Scott, Jane Barker

This, the year of 1928-29, has been very active in the life of the Dramatic Club. This success is due to the loyalty and co-operation of every member, and the services and coaching of Miss Holton and Mrs. Preston.

The officers for the year 1928-29 were:

President	Helen Card
Vice-president	Felton Hayes
Secretary	Nancy Roberson
Treasurer	Elizabeth Pollard

THE DRAMATIC CLUB

MRS. P. C. GRAHAM

Cafeteria

One of the agencies which is materially helpful toward the successful administration of the affairs of life in high school is the cafeteria operated under the able direction of Mrs. Paul C. Graham. Her aim as manager is to have the cafeteria work for people, with people, and to serve all people well. The spirit of helpfulness manifested in the dining room management, where student help is a feature of the system, is the reflection of Mrs. Graham's attitude towards life.

The work of serving the students of Durham High is a task which involves two types of ministrations; one daily, the other, occasional. Five days in the week a well-balanced menu is offered to students at the lunch period. The food is well-cooked, attractively prepared, and served at cost. A glance at the offering each day shows the choice possible, and the variety given, to suit the tastes and needs of those served. Daily the following food is offered: bread and butter; soups; meat, bearing the government stamp of inspection; vegetables, leafy and starchy, three of each; salads, a choice of two; desserts, one besides ice cream and fruit, candy, and nuts; drinks, milk, cocoa, or punch.

The room itself is attractively brightened by flowers or other decorations appropriate to the seasons; and special days are most cleverly suggested by the artistic touches which make the atmosphere homelike.

The second important phase of work undertaken by the cafeteria is that of helping to furnish refreshments at all school functions. These include teas, socials or banquets; some are very simple and some more elaborate. All are furnished at a minimum of expense and as attractively as possible. The banquets have been a source of much pride and satisfaction to all concerned.

The unfailing courtesy, the unlimited resourcefulness, and the charming personality of Mrs. Graham make her service to Durham High School an inspiration to the whole school.

The Athletic Association

The Tides and Whirlwinds and other athletic boomerangs of Central High School need no introduction. For many years and in many fields of athletics, the wearers of the crimson have won deserved recognition for their technique and sportsmanship. Their clean-playing and courtesy have distinguished them in the realm of sports.

During the past season wrestling added its name to the list of D. H. S. sports. The Red Grapplers were a credit to us, and we are justly proud of our young sport. Central High was highly successful in her major "standbys," and also turned out creditable teams in track, tennis, and golf, the three minor sports.

Girls' athletics are still confined to intra-mural activities. However, the intra-mural tournaments arouse a great deal of interest and involve hard work on the part of the girls. Inter-class tournaments were held in hockey, swimming, track, and basketball. The sophomores emerged victorious from the hockey tournament; and the juniors emerged victorious from the basketball tournament.

We are justly proud of our athletic program and of the ideals upheld by our teams. The standards of Durham High shall ever be raised by the spirit of her members.

The student body particularly wishes to thank the coaches, Miss Lyon and Messrs. Burke, Taylor, Hardaway, and Hayes, and the advisers, Mr. deBruyne and our principal, Mr. W. F. Warren, for their efficient coaching and guidance during the past season, which has made it most successful in all lines of activity offered.

Football

JAMES HOLLOWAY, Captain

That phenomenal inland Tide, which originated in Durham and which has for the past several years caused considerable damage to North Carolina football elevens, surged again this season and won new honors for the school which it represented and set new standards in sportsmanship. The personnel of the Crimson Tide of '28 was made up mostly of veterans.

The first game of the season was played with Apex and much to our surprise was a defeat; but as experience is a good teacher, the following week the wearers of the Crimson dealt a stinging blow of defeat to Rocky Mount.

The Tide's first formidable opponent of the season was the team of John Marshall High School at Richmond, Virginia. The team worked hard but was unable to score against its more powerful aggressor.

Goldsboro was the second team to be set adrift by the strength of the Tide.

The next contest was played with Sanford, the famous rival of long standing. Both teams showed much strength but were unable to score.

The sixth game, which was played with our famous opponent, Raleigh, proved to be the outstanding game of the season. Durham had the game sewed up until the last five minutes of play when Raleigh tied the score with a touchdown. When the whistle blew, however, Durham had the ball in her possession and was gaining at will.

The Tide overwhelmed Bethel Hill in the first game of the championship series by an enormous score.

Hillsboro took the same route as Bethel Hill when she assailed the Tide in a practice game.

The next encounter proved to be the Crimson Tide's waterloo, not because of the score, but because of "Lady Luck." The boys played Oxford to a tie and, as there was no time for another game, the decision was left to a lottery in which Oxford proved to be lucky.

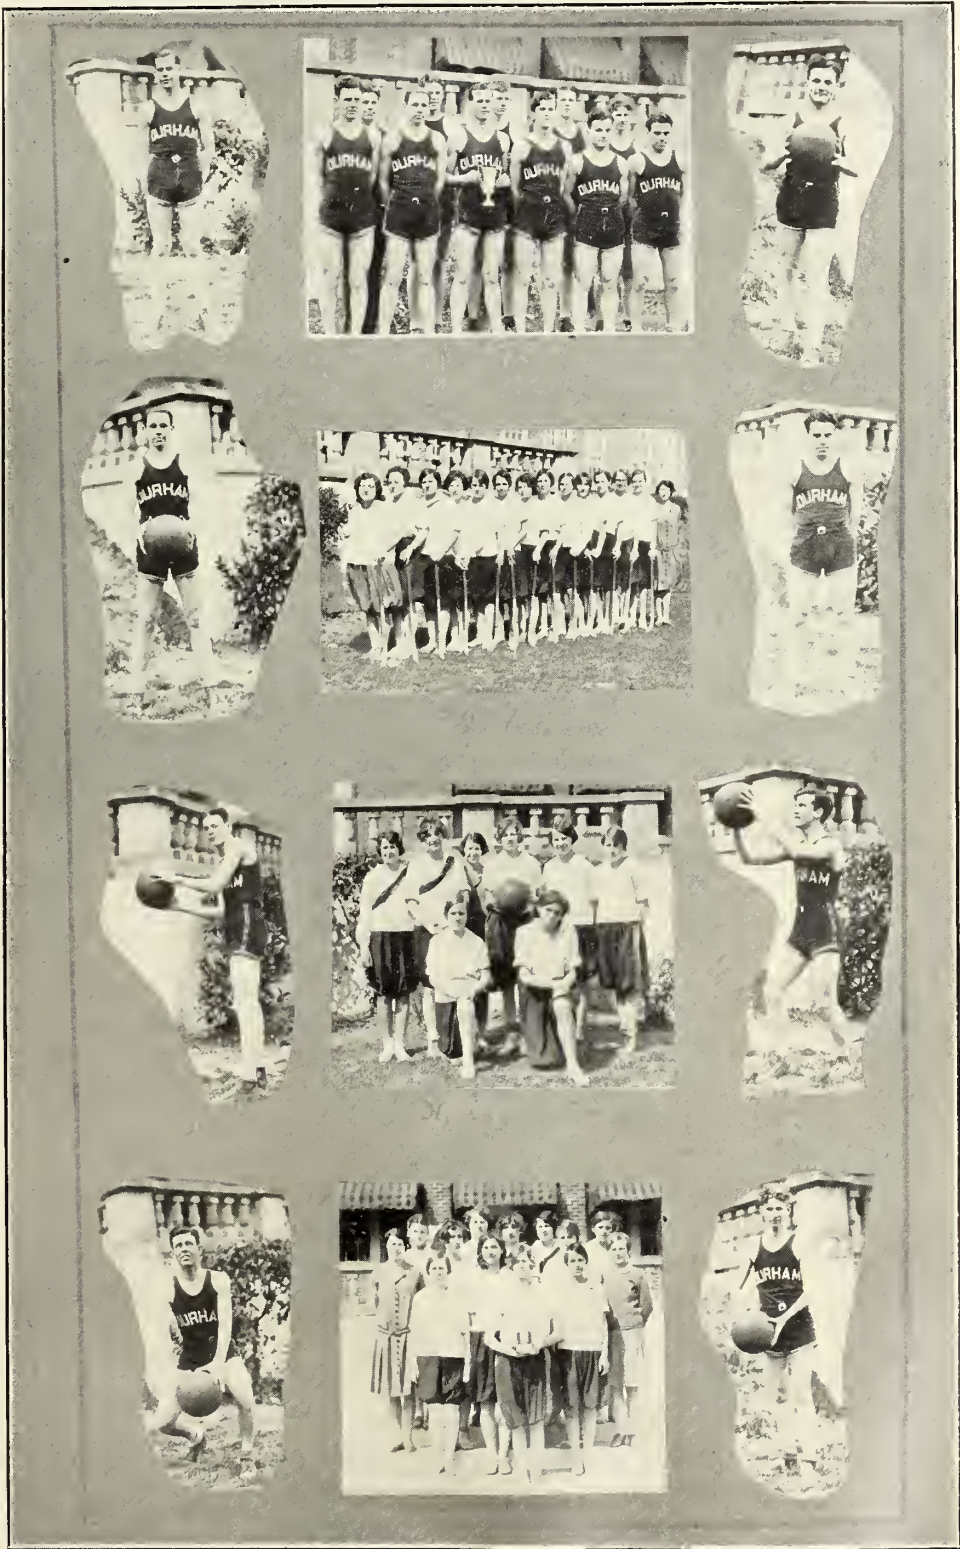

Although the Oxford game automatically closed the football season, the Tide met High Point in a post-season game and was defeated after a hard fight.

Although this last game rang down the curtain on the high school football career of Bacon Fuller, Guy Mitchell, Robert Wilson, Bill Markham, Louis Sher, and Carlyle Carrington, the Tide will have Herbert Carlton—who incidentally received the honor of a place on the All-State High School Eleven—Roy Phipps, who was the pilot of this season's team, Jim Rogers, Jim Fortune, Gordon Pope, Jim Holloway, Will Lougee, and Bill McAllister to form the nucleus of next year's team.

FOOTBALL SQUAD

Basketball

JAMES HOLLOWAY, Captain

That storm, known to Durham basketball fans as the White Whirlwind, is the basketball team of the Durham High School and former champions of North Carolina for three consecutive years. This year the team reached the finals in the North Carolina State Tournament held at Raleigh. With the splendid coaching of "Ikey" Taylor and through the leadership of Captain Jim Holloway the Whirlwind was able to win fourteen out of the eighteen games played against other high schools. Three of this number were lost, by a small margin in each game, to our old rival, Raleigh.

The team this year was built around Hayes, Holloway, Sher, and Harris who received their letters last year. By stellar playing Giobbi, Howell, Markham, and Alexander won places on the first team.

The Whirlwind met High Point in the initial clash, which announced the approach of a successful season and early hopes to all State honors.

The next game proved to be the greatest defeat of the season as the Carolina Frosh were too experienced to bow before the High quintet.

The victories then began to roll toward D. H. S. Leaksville, High Point, Oxford, and Shelby fell with the small end of the scores.

The strong Asheville team placed a scar on the record by defeating the Whirlwind in one of the hardest fought games of the season.

The championship series opened with Efland who was too weak to hold scores down. Likewise, Apex, a new rival, and Bethel Hill followed Efland in the line of defeats.

The next championship game was the greatest shock to the Durham fans. Durham having previously defeated Raleigh was now forced to give up its desire for a championship.

To the Durham men the season had just begun as they journeyed to State College to play in the State Tournament. Again Durham met High Point and defeated them with a bigger score than before. Lexington and Wilson also dropped their dreams for state honors to place the Whirlwind in the finals of the tournament.

The last game of the season and of the tournament was one of the most interesting games of the year. Durham met Raleigh who had also won three games in the tournament to give them the right to play Durham. The Whirlwind played a hard game but was not able to ward off the goal which gave Raleigh the victory. As a token for their ability and sportsmanship the team was awarded a silver loving cup and individual silver basketballs.

The members of the team and the basketball fans regret that by graduation of Markham, Hayes, Howell, Sher, and Alexander the team will be weakened, but with Holloway, Harris, and Giobbi back as veterans, the Whirlwind will be able to maintain its record of previous years.

Wrestling

HAYWOOD LATTA, Captain

Wrestling made its debut as a sport in Central High this year under the direction of Coach Buck Hardaway, a former Duke star and All-Southern wrestler.

After a few short weeks of practice, the Red Grapplers unfortunately fell before the strong Lowe's Grove team. Increased efficiency led to a tie with Winston-Salem, former State Champions. The elation which followed was somewhat dampened, however, when the Grapplers were defeated in a return meet with Winston-Salem.

The next encounter marked the first victory for the team. This was won at the expense of Greensboro in a fast and furious encounter. History repeated itself in the next tussle, which was with our former conquerors, Loye's Grove, despite the fact that the Grapplers showed much improvement. The year was brought to a close by two overwhelming defeats handed the inferior Garner tusslers.

Prospects for the ensuing year are very favorable, since no member of the team will be lost through graduation.

Track

Track began its second year as a major sport in Durham High under strained difficulties. In addition to the fact that no letter men from the previous season returned, new candidates were slow in answering the call to practice.

After an irregular period of practice, decidedly affected by inclement weather, a team was formed which entered the State meet at Chapel Hill, failing, however, to place in any event. The boys representing Durham were::

Gene Newsom.....	440 yard run
Roy Phipps.....	javelin and shot put
Jim Rogers.....	broad jump and shot put
Claiborne Hurst.....	low hurdles
T. C. Farthing.....	high jump
Harold Rogers.....	low hurdles
Bill McAllister.....	pole vault
Worth Perry.....	100 yard dash
Wilson Cole.....	high jump
Raymond Webster.....	broad jump—220
Wilbur Snipes.....	mile run

Golf

This year, golf was added to the list of minor sports in Durham High. The season began by preliminary matches held at Hope Valley and Hill-andale Country Clubs. These matches were so satisfactory that Coach Burke decided to enter the teams in the South Atlantic High School Golf Association Tournament which was held at Charlotte. In spite of the inexperience of the team, when the final scores were counted it was found that the Durham boys placed sixth, which was by no means a small honor to Durham High School. This result was possible through the untiring efforts of the men and the leadership of Captain "Bill" O'Brien.

Baseball

J. B. JOHNS, Captain

Central High School's baseball nine came through its most successful season in several years by meeting and defeating many strong opponents. Several new aspirants displayed their powers before the grandstand and from these, together with the returning letter-men Coach Taylor selected a very aggressive team.

Durham's first opponent was Henderson whom she decisively defeated by practically starting a track meet during the fifth frame.

Clayton took the same route as Henderson although they were formerly rated by the fans as the winner.

The next game was a very close encounter played with our bitter rival, Raleigh. Raleigh was ahead until the last inning when Durham revived and scored two runs.

Our first defeat was at the hands of Oxford. The Central boys were unable to hit Oxford's pitcher.

The Central nine was defeated by Raleigh in the next engagement. The team played hard but unsuccessfully.

Durham's third consecutive defeat was at the hands of Clayton. Errors were largely responsible for this defeat.

The team again took on a winning streak and defeated the Duke Law School, the Raleigh Methodist Orphanage, and Roxboro in a series of practice games. These were all outstanding victories for Durham.

Beginning the championship series, the high nine defeated Roxboro in a very fast though close encounter.

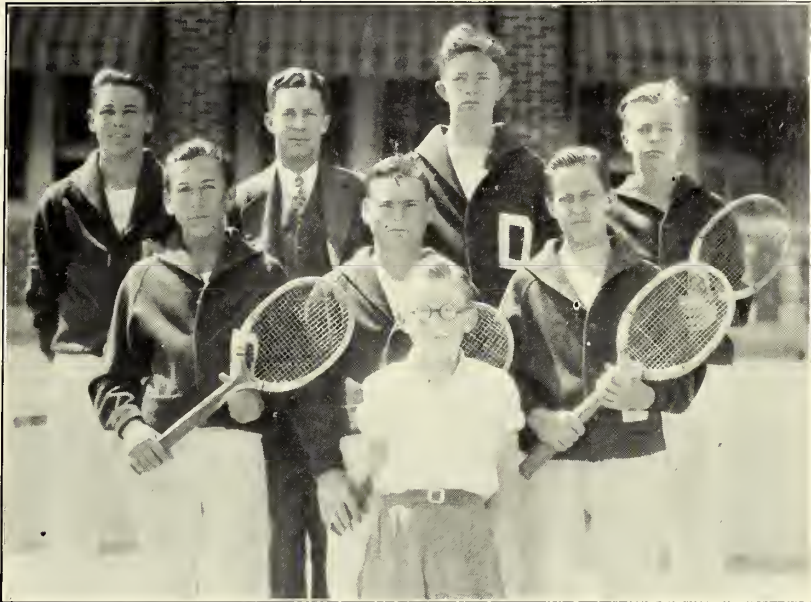

With the defeat of Bethel Hill in the second game of the series Central High became the champions of Group I.

The Central High team challenged Oxford to another practice game and secured ample revenge for the defeat earlier in the season.

Due to the lateness of the baseball season it is not possible to get a complete report for the year book. Doubtless, however, an enviable record may be the result of this season's work.

Tennis

JAMES MARTIN, Captain

Although tennis is a sport recently added to the athletic activities in Durham High School, it promises to develop into one of the most popular outdoor activities.

Mr. S. B. Hayes, coach of the present team, planned a tournament but as the elimination matches progressed the squad was finally narrowed down to six players.

The team chose two of its players to represent the school in the annual state-wide tournament, held in Chapel Hill. Captain James Martin and William Markham played an exceptionally fine brand of tennis in both singles and doubles in the matches. Their rating in the state tournament for the present year shows a great improvement over last year's representatives.

The high school netmen have played Chapel Hill, Winston-Salem, and Burlington, so far, and have arranged meets with Raleigh and High Point high schools. The high school racquetters have met with victory in all matches except against Winston, when the local netmen were defeated after displaying a brilliant brand of tennis.

The team is exceptionally fortunate in losing only one of its members this year. Coach Hayes seems well satisfied with the progress the team has made this season, but intends to produce a still better team next year.

Girls' Basketball

NELL ATWATER, Captain

The girls' basketball season opened with two tournaments, the inter-session room tournament and the inter-class tournament. Junior session rooms 5A1 and 5A2 were champions of the inter-session room tournament, having wrestled the game from the freshmen session rooms 3A1 and 3A2, the score being 42-18. Immediately following this series the inter-class tournament was played. Captains for the class teams were; Newsom, Senior; Atwater, Junior; Bishop, Sophomore; T. Newsom, Freshman. The final championship game was played February 14, Seniors vs. Juniors. The Juniors won with a score of 14-13. To this team a silver trophy was presented by the Girls' Club of the High School, in order to promote interest in intra-mural athletics.

At the close of the inter-class basketball tournament the class managers and captains elected an honorary varsity. The varsity team, picked with regard to scholastic standing, physique, sportsmanship, and ability as basketball players, received letters.

After a varsity-faculty clash, the season ended at a banquet with the boys' varsity, and faculty team. This closed a most successful athletic year for girls under the capable leadership of Miss Ruth Lyon, girls' athletic director.

Set Speeches at Durham High

I. Nancy wants the support of every member of the student body. The faculty will be here, I am sure. (Mr. Warren, in auditorium.)

II. You know, I feel just like a mother to our basketball boys. (Taken from one of Miss Nancy Roberson's numerous speeches.)

III. Je ne sais pas. (The usual answer to a French question.)

IV. Folks, all I want to do is to get your top-pieces to working. (Mr. Holton, adviser.)

V. You girls just don't know how much I appreciate this. (Mrs. Spence, "adviseress.")

VI. We are gonna make this the best "Messenger" ever. (A speech of long standing, which is given annually before the students are asked to subscribe. Repeated by Nat on state occasions.)

VII. Jimmie sprained his ankle last night. (Myrtice Ward's report the morning after a basketball game.)

IX. Durham High School has the finest spirit I have ever seen. (A person from another town making a "bouquet" speech.)

X. Ah—you make a hash of it, my frien'! Hoop! la! (Mr. deBruyne, in Math.)

XI. Attention is the price of promotion. (So says Miss Belle Hampton.)

XII. Can you "fee-chore" that? (Mary Taggart.)

XIII. I'm just as sorry as if it did any good. Any questions or comments? (With a smile, Miss Holton puts her foot down.)

XIV. The empty wagon makes the loudest noisc. (Wonder if Miss Michaels found this astounding truth in Caesar?)

XV. Oh! that reminds me of Raleigh High School. (A bad habit of handsome Eddie Ratcliffe.)

XVI. It is (etc.), so to speak. (Miss MacManus.)

XVII. You aren't babies and it doesn't require any brains to keep still, so get quiet. (When Mrs. Stackhouse really gets worried.)

XVIII. Tell me no! (Kappy Roberson.)

XIX. I could eat a horse. (Mr. Kern Ormond, do you get that way from "cheer leading"?)

XX. I thank y'all for electing me, and I'm gonna try to do my best. (This frequent address after a person is elected to an office, almost makes you wish to elect officers again.)

XXI. I don't like for other people to eat out of my plate. (Mr. McKay on Latin class.)

XXII. Well, look. (Sidney Bowden.)

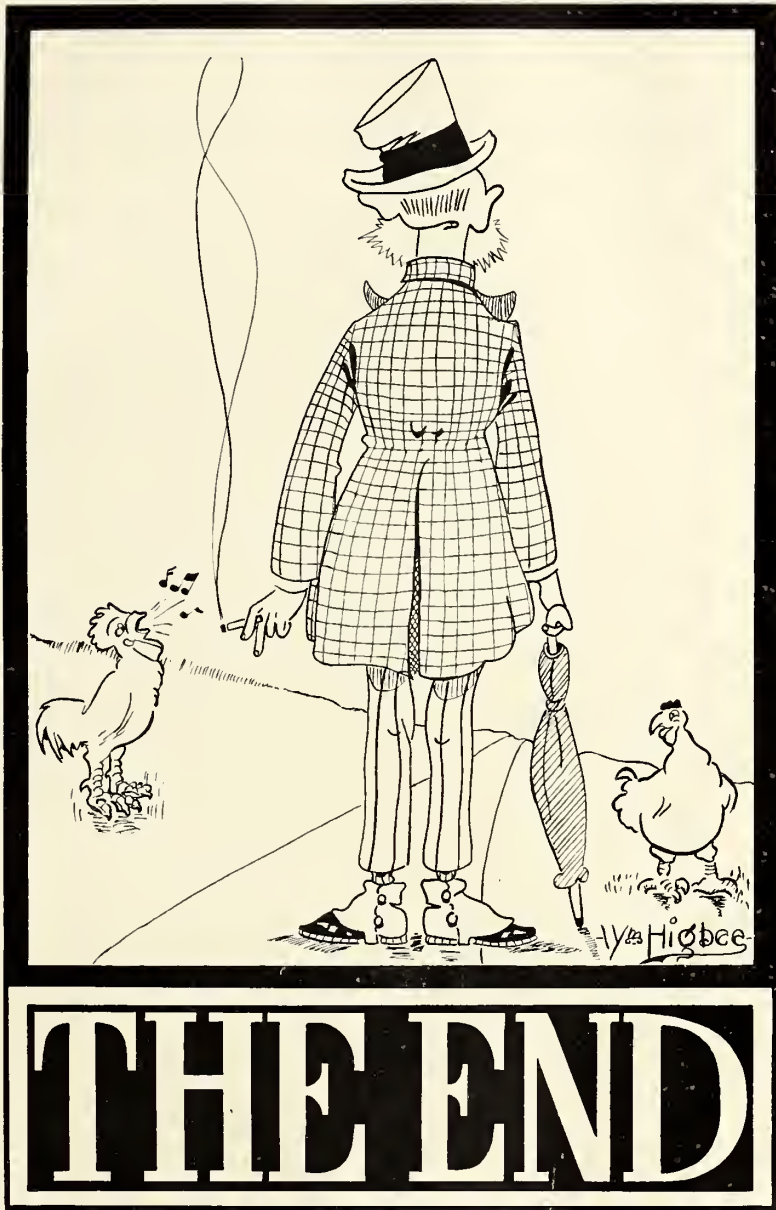

The Farewell

We have striven
To finish
And leave behind
Happy memories.

We have worked
